

Everyone's Concern

Consumer Price Index Key Statistic

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every month 240 men and women fan out in 56 cities, large and small, across the land to find out how much you're paying to bring home the bacon, and a lot of other items.

They check the prices in 18,000 retail stores and service establishments, from shopping center supermarkets to the little laundry on the corner.

The figures they compile are sent to the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics which uses them to put together one of the nation's most vital economic indicators, the Consumer Price Index.

This is the monthly report that shows the price trends for food, clothing, housing, transportation, medical care and recreation — that pinpoints the pinch you feel as the cost of living continues to rise.

"On the whole, it is quite an accurate statistic," said Dr. Joel Popkin, the bureau's assistant commissioner for prices. Government statisticians figure on no more than a one-tenth of one per cent error in the figures.

The bureau has been compiling the living cost reports for 50 years, periodically updating the items sampled to account for changing spending patterns and new products. The latest revision was in 1964.

The index for the past year has shown a steady rise in prices at a rate of 6 per cent or more, the worst inflationary climb in 20 years.

The report is compiled in terms of index points and percentages, not in dollars and cents, but can be readily converted into money terms.

For instance, the April index for all items showed a climb of eight index points from March, up from 133.2 to 134. This represented a rise of six-tenths of one per cent for the month.

The index figure, based on averaged 1957-59 prices, means it took $134 in April to pay for the same "market basket" of typical family goods and services that cost $100 a little more than a decade ago.

A companion report, based on industry payroll figures, shows average weekly wages for some 45 million rank-and-file workers and how they are faring with inflation. The April report said the weekly wage of $117.98 was up 6 cents in pay, but down 43 cents in purchasing power because of inflation. The average wage was up $6.23 over the year, but down 20 cents in purchasing power.

The price index covers costs of everything people buy for living—food, clothing, automobiles, homes, house furnishings, household supplies, fuel, drugs and recreational goods; fees to doctors, lawyers, beauty shops; rent, repair costs, transportation fares, public utility rates, etc., the bureau said.

In pricing lawyers' fees, for instance, a sampler will price the fee for a short form will, Popkin said.

The price index also includes sales, excise and real estate taxes, but not income or personal property taxes because they are not directly associated with the costs of goods or services.

Some items are priced every month over a period of several days or weeks; other items that do not show too frequent cost changes will be sampled only ever three months or so.

The various items are weighted for the index computation.

Cost of Living Still Shows Uphill Trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — A rise in living costs of four-tenths of one per cent last month added to the nation's worst inflationary spiral in twenty years but a government official said there has been a "significant" slowing of the pace of price hikes in recent months.

Costs of all major categories were up, with transportation and clothing posting the largest price hikes in May, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The bureau figured the May rise at five-tenths of one per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis for the fourth straight month, because food prices rose instead of dropping as usual in May.

"The rate has come down from the six-tenths of one per cent rate of November, December, and January," said Dr. Joel Popkin, assistant commissioner of the bureau.

"It has come down to five-tenths of one per cent monthly changes, which is significant," he said of the past four months.

He added that the four-tenths actual rise in May was more significant to consumers because it reflected prices they had to pay, while the seasonal figure of five-tenths was of more interest to economic analysts.

The May increase boosted the government's Consumer Price Index to 134.6, meaning it cost $134.6 last month for every $100 worth of typical family spending in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based. The four-tenths of one per cent rise was the smallest since last January, when it was also four-tenths but figured seasonally as a six-tenths rise.

The bureau also reported that some 45 million rank and file workers gained $1.06 a week to an average pay check of $118.72 weekly in May because of a two-cent hourly rise in pay and a slightly longer work week.

The bureau said food prices rose three-tenths of one per cent, housing and medical care five-tenths of one per cent each, clothing six-tenths of one per cent and transportation eight-tenths of one per cent.

The report said the May rise was less than April because of smaller price hikes for most services and for commodities other than food.

Prices of food and consumer durable goods accelerated from April, it said.

The May report said living

Congress Approves Vote Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bold bit of strategy by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has helped Congress pass a generation gap-bridging bill that lowers the voting age to 18.

By a 272-132 vote the House Wednesday accepted the 18-year-old vote provision as part of a Senate-passed bill that also continues the 1965 Voting Rights Act for five more years.

If the provision becomes law and is upheld by the courts, it would add an estimated 10 million youths between 18 and 21 to those eligible to vote in federal, state and local primary and general elections.

House approval sent the package to President Nixon, putting him under the same pressure that Mansfield's strategy applied to the House—accept the bill on both counts or risk further alienation of the nation's youth and its blacks.

Nixon has said he supports the 18-year-old vote, but only through a constitutional amendment, not by a simple act of Congress. He also has opposed extending the 1965 Voting Rights Act, which applies mainly to seven Southern states, on grounds it is regional legislation.

At the end of Wednesday's brief but emotional debate, House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford spoke of Nixon's past opposition and raised the possibility the President might let the bill become law without signing it. There had been earlier speculation of a veto.

Civil rights groups were alarmed when the Senate, at

'Rent-a-Kid' Program Is In Trouble

Project "Rent-a-Kid", launched June 5 to supply summer jobs for Sedalia children aged 8-18, will end in failure by July 10 unless a greater response is received from the community.

"We wanted to keep these kids out of trouble and off the streets this summer, but without cooperation we just can't do it," explained a dejected Mrs. Betsy Sims Thursday at project headquarters in the Tiffany House, 116 South Ohio.

The Missouri Valley Human Resource Development Corp., which administers the program, notified local supervisor Mrs. Mildred Wade of the July 10 deadline.

Since the project began, 110 youths have signed up as available for summer work. However, only 16 calls have been received at the office. From these, six steady and 10 part-time jobs were filled.

"Any increase in demand would be appreciated. We had

Egypt Admits Losses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cairo admitted today that Israeli artillery killed 15 Egyptian soldiers and wounded seven Wednesday along the Suez Canal. It was one of the highest Egyptian military tolls reported since the 1967 war, though higher civilian casualties have been claimed.

Egypt's official Middle East News Agency said the Israelis opened fire in the morning and kept it up intermittently into the afternoon. There was no report on this action from Israel.

Egypt struck back today with an air raid on two Israeli fortifications along the central sector of the canal, the Israeli command announced. It said there were no Israeli casualties.

It was the second Egyptian air strike across the canal in as many days. The Israelis fly daily sorties against Egyptian positions on the west side of the blocked waterway, and the Is-

Enemy Cuts Highways Around Cambodia Town

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Enemy troops severed two more major highways out of Phnom Penh today, cutting traffic between the threatened capital and Saigon and isolating a large Cambodian force at the military headquarters town of Kompong Cham.

Highway 1, leading to Saigon, was cut by Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops about 25 miles south of Phnom Penh, said travelers who tried to use the road.

Potentially more serious was the cutoff on a second highway near Skoun, 38 miles northeast of the capital. This is the only land route to the provincial and regional military headquarters at Kompong Cham, where two Cambodian regiments are based.

In Phnom Penh, the population waited tensely to see if a threatened attack by the enemy would materialize.

A Buddhist monk who said he escaped from North Vietnamese troops at Kompong Speu told a news conference the Communists boasted they would attack Phnom Penh today, three months to the day after Premier Lon Nol said his associates deposed Prince Norodom Sihanouk as chief of state.

Several diplomats said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong already had scored a propaganda victory by frightening the city's population. Meanwhile, Phnom Penh was quiet. A military spokesman reported fighting in Kompong Thom, a provincial capital 80 miles north of Phnom Penh, and said South Vietnamese helicopters and gunships were flying in support of the ground troops.

He also reported scattered fighting around Kompong

Chhnang, 55 miles northwest of the capital, where enemy troops were reported Wednesday to have taken partial control of the town and to have set up strong points in a hotel and the central market. Today the spokesman said Cambodian troops were trying to clear the area but there was no fighting in the town itself.

Reservoir Work Is Going Ahead

(Democrat-Capital Service)

WARSAW — Funds approved by the House Appropriations Committee Thursday for water and construction projects by the Army Corps of Engineers would include work on two bridges and the relocation of a road at the Harry S. Truman Reservoir.

State Sen. John Ryan told The Democrat Thursday that one of the bridges, a 5,000-foot span over the proposed lake, would be the longest bridge in Missouri.

Ryan said the bid for that bridge was $6,005,727.50, and had been let recently to the List and Clark Construction Co., Overland Park, Kan.

Other bids let were for a bridge and 2.3 miles of dirt and culvert work on a road near the Grand River, totaling $2,675,000. It went to the Holten-Anderson Construction Co. The bridge over the Grand River would be about 2,150 feet long, Ryan said.

The House Appropriations Committee approved $13 million Thursday for the reservoir project, only $4 million less than requested recently by a 60-member delegation from Missouri.

Kennie Miller, local realtor, Sen. Ryan and Fred Davis, president of State Fair Community College, met with the House Appropriations Committee May 11 and with the Senate Committee May 12. They asked that $17 million be allotted. They represented the Sedalia portion of the delegation.

Miller said the $13 million approved by the committee Thursday was only for this year's construction program.

A $49,890,540 bid for the dam itself was rejected recently because it was $16 million over the original estimates, Ryan said.

Ryan reported that Howard Construction Co., which recently opened a new plant in Warsaw, would provide the concrete for the bridges.

The Harry S. Truman reservoir was formerly known as the Kaysinger Bluff Reservoir.

Bill Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $5.24 billion public works bill stressing construction of municipal waste treatment plants and improvement of water quality was approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

Subject to House consideration next week, it would provide financing for the fiscal year starting July 1 for the Army Engineer Corps, the Bureau of Reclamation, the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Atomic Energy Commission and several other agencies.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Grant ABM Funds At Whiteman AFB

(Democrat-Capital Service)

WHITEMAN AFB — The Senate Armed Services Committee has voted funds for a Safeguard installation in the Whiteman Air Force Base area, while cutting funds for four other proposed Safeguard installations in an effort to outflank critics who want the entire Safeguard program cut more drastically.

The committee approved Wednesday the Nixon administration's request for $178 million to begin Safeguard site procurement for Whiteman Air Force Base, and $95.2 million to begin construction on the base.

Safeguard plans in this area include a missile radar installation at Whiteman, with at least two remote launch sites, located about 25 miles from the base. The Pentagon said earlier that the locations of the remote sites are not definite yet.

While approving the Whiteman funds, the Armed Services Committee voted to drop four proposed "area defense" Safeguard sites in the Northeastern and Northwestern United States, the Michigan-Ohio area and near Washington, D.C.

The paring down of the Safeguard proposal was seen as an effort to defuse strong Senate opposition to the entire Safeguard program. In 1969 the Senate came within one vote of killing the entire Safeguard program.

The four area defense bases were described by administration officials as essential to a plan designed to defend against an attack by Red China.

Sen. John Stennis, committee chairman, said he thought the pared-down Safeguard plan would make full Senate approval easier.

Attorney Says Intimidation Is Trial Problem

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An attorney says attempts are being made to intimidate Linda Kasabian, a young mother expected to be the prosecution's main witness in the Sharon Tate murder trial.

Gary Fleischman, who represents Mrs. Kasabian, said she had received letters from members of Charles Manson's hippie-type "family" urging her not to testify.

The lawyer told newsmen one letter warned his 21-year-old client "there is no real immunity"—a reference to the prosecution's reported plan to let Mrs. Kasabian go free after she testifies in the current trial.

Manson is on trial with three followers in the bizarre slayings of Miss Tate and six others last August.

Mrs. Kasabian, also charged in the slayings but granted a separate trial, made a surprise court appearance Wednesday and waived her right to a speedy trial.

Demure in a floor-length white dress with yellow embroidery, her dark blonde hair in pigtails, Mrs. Kasabian exchanged smiles with Manson and the three women defendants.

Ask Congress For Limited Financing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Faced by one of the worst appropriation jams in history, Congress was asked today to provide limited emergency financing for the entire government for the year starting July 1.

The financing was called for in a resolution sent to the House floor by the Appropriations Committee. It would be a one-month measure but could be expected to be extended month by month.

FAMILY LIVING

If you are a thrifty shopper you learn to buy the kinds and amounts of the food your family will use with a minimum of waste. To avoid waste and to make the most of the food dollars, here are a few guidelines.

Fresh fruits and vegetables are usually best in quality and lowest in cost when in season. Whatever fruit or vegetable you are buying, look first for freshness. Pointers on selecting some fruits and vegetables include:

Apples — Good color usually indicates full flavor.

Bananas — Bananas should be firm, fresh in appearance, and unscarred. Yellow or brown-flecked ones are ready for immediate use. Select slightly green-colored bananas for use within a few days.

Berries — Select plump, solid berries with good color. Avoid wet or leaky berries. Blackberries and raspberries with clinging caps may be underripe. Strawberries without caps may be too ripe.

Grapes — Grapes should be plump, fresh in appearance, and firmly attached to the stems. Red or black varieties should be well colored for the variety. Most white or green varieties should have a slightly amber tone.

Melons (except watermelons) — Ripe cantaloupes have a yellowish surface color; honeydews, a creamy color; crenshaws, a golden-yellow color mottled with green; casabas, a yellow color; and persian melons, a dull gray-green color. Ripe melons of these types usually have a fruity aroma and a slight softening at the blossom end. A ripe cantaloupe has no stem; other melons may have stems attached.

Oranges, grapefruit, and lemons — Choose those heavy for their size. Smooth, thin skins usually indicate more juice. Most skin markings do not affect quality. Oranges with a slight greenish tinge may be just as ripe as fully colored ones. Light or greenish-yellow lemons are more tart than deep-yellow ones.

Peaches — Best quality peaches are fairly firm, not bruised, with yellow or red color over the entire surface.

Pears — Some pears, especially winter varieties, are marketed when slightly underripe and need to be ripened at home — at room temperature. Pears are ripe and ready to eat when they yield slightly to moderate pressure.

Pineapples — Pineapple varieties vary greatly in color. Ripe pineapples have a fragrant, fruity aroma. Usually, the heavier the fruit for its size, the better the quality. Avoid pineapples that have decayed or moldy spots.

Watermelons — Ripe watermelons have a somewhat dull surface and a creamy color underneath. The interior should be fully red and firm, and should have a few immature seeds.

Vegetables: Asparagus — Stalks should be tender and firm; tips should be close and compact. Choose the stalks with little white — they are more tender. Use asparagus promptly — it toughens rapidly.

Beans, snap — Choose slender beans with no large bumps (bumps indicate large seeds). Avoid beans with dry-looking pods.

Broccoli — Look for small flower buds on compactly arranged heads with good green color. Avoid yellowing, soft, or spreading heads.

Brussels sprouts — The heads should be firm with good green color. Yellowing outer leaves and softness indicate aging. Smudgy, dirty spots may indicate insect damage or decay.

Cabbage — Choose heads that are firm and heavy. Outer leaves should be fresh, green, and free from wormholes.

Cauliflower — Choose heads that are compact, firm, and white or creamy white. Avoid discolored heads and those with soft spots.

Celery — Best-quality celery is fresh and crisp. It is clean and has leaves that appear fresh; stems do not have black or brown discoloration. Avoid pithy, woody or very stringy celery.

Corn — Good-quality fresh corn has husks that are fresh and green. The ears are well filled with plump, firm, milky kernels. Immature ears of corn have small, undeveloped, watery kernels. Overmature ears have very firm, large, starchy kernels, often indented.

Cucumbers — Choose firm, slender cucumbers for best quality. Avoid yellowed cucumbers and those with withered or shriveled ends.

Lettuce (head) — Select heads that are green, fresh, crisp, and fairly firm. Head lettuce should be free from rusty appearance and excessive outer leaves.

Onions (dry) — Size and color do not affect flavor or quality of dry onions. Clean, hard, well-shaped onions with dry skins are usually of good quality. Moisture at the neck may be a sign of decay. Mild-flavored onions, which are often large, may be elongated or flat. Stronger-flavored onions are usually medium size and globe shaped.

Peas and lima beans — Select pods that are well filled but not bulging. Avoid dried, spotted, yellowed or flabby pods.

Potatoes — Best-quality potatoes are firm, smooth, and well shaped. They are free from cuts, blemishes, and decay. To judge quality more easily, look for potatoes that are reasonably clean. Avoid potatoes with wasteful deep eyes. Potatoes with green skins may be bitter. If you plan to buy a large quantity of potatoes, buy a few first to see if they are the kind you want. Early-crop potatoes, harvested in spring and summer, tend to be less mealy when cooked than those harvested later.

Root vegetables — Choose smooth, firm vegetables. Very large carrots may have woody cores; oversized radishes may be pithy; oversized turnips, beets, and parsnips may be woody. The size and condition of the tops on root vegetables do not necessarily indicate the eating quality.

Sweet potatoes — Choose sweet potatoes that are clean, smooth, well shaped, and firm. Damp or soft spots may indicate decay. There are two types of sweet potatoes. The moist type has soft, moist, orange-colored flesh and bronze or rosy skin. The dry type has firm, dry, somewhat mealy, yellow-colored flesh and yellow or light-brown skin.

Tomatoes — Choose tomatoes that are plump, firm, and uniformly pink, red, or yellow in color. They should be free from growth cracks, scars, and bruises. The best flavored tomatoes are ripened on the vine.

'Music Hall' Production Is Pleasing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's "Music Hall" summer series of London-made programs has become, in a few short weeks, one of the season's few bright spots. "An Evening with Burt Bacharach" on Wednesday night was an exaggeration as to length but it was the better part of an evening devoted otherwise to reruns.

The program had the glossy sheen of a special and, with composer Bacharach in the center of things, it was almost completely devoted to music.

And, with a couple of exceptions, the music was, of course, the hits and some lesser known pieces by Bacharach. Dionne Warwick, Joel Grey and French singing star Sasha Distel were in charge of delivering the lyrics. There was little conversation, a lot of interesting camera work. At times, unfortunately, the sound seemed muffled and mushy and dialogue between Miss Warwick and Bacharach was hard to understand.

A rather stilted bit on the composer and the singer demonstrating how a new composition is launched did not quite come off. However, it was a pleasant hour.

It is rare when a character in a TV commercial is such a hit that it can be transferred to the entertainment portion of an hour. However, Joe Higgins, who has been playing a comedy sheriff in a series of automobile commercials, has been signed as a regular on the Everly Brothers show, which, starting on July 8, will be Johnny Cash's summer replacement on ABC. Joe will play the same character of the commercials except that he will be a parking lot guard.

Pam Austin was launched on a film career from commercials of the same sponsor. She played a sort of mod adventures, and moved to star in a camp revival of "The Perils of Pauline," a pilot for a TV series that never made the networks.

Jack Webb, whose "Dragnet" was dropped by NBC at the end of this season, will make a two-hour motion picture for CBS next season which will be a pilot for a police action-series for that network in 1971.

The film, "Treasure Man" will bring David Janssen back to television for his first acting role since "The Fugitive," but he will not necessarily carry on to a new series.

Doris Day will make her first appearance on a talk show next Monday night — on Merv Griffin's show — all in the CBS family.

'Story Hour' At Boonslick Is Scheduled

A summer children's "picture book story hour time" will be held at Boonslick Regional Library beginning next month, the library has announced.

The 30-minute sessions will start at 9 a.m. on the following dates: July 14, 21 and 28, and Aug. 4 and 11. The sessions will be limited to 20 children.

Mothers may register their children at the library during the week of June 29.

Maria Almaguer, children's librarian, will be in charge of the story hour programs.

Difficulties Force Closing Of Old School

GODFREY, Ill. (AP) — Declining enrollment and a continuing deficit has brought an end to the 135-year-old Monticello College for Women.

The chairman of the newly formed Lewis and Clark Junior College District, Paul Hanks, announced Tuesday the district had purchased the 26 buildings and 218-acre site of the private college for $4 million.

The purchase is subject to the approval of the Illinois Junior College Board.

In any event, Hanks said, Monticello will continue to operate until the end of the 1970-71 fiscal year.

Monticello College, named for Thomas Jefferson's Virginia home, enrolled its first students in 1838. The site of the school was chosen three years earlier by the Rev. Theron Baldwin and Capt. Benjamin Godfrey, a Cape Cod sailing master.

The school is located about five miles north of Alton.

Hanoi May Be Seeking Quick Combat Victory

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Hanoi apparently had decided it must smash the government of Gen. Lon Nol in a matter of months, qualified diplomatic and intelligence sources report. It looks like a major change of strategy.

The aim of a major drive now under way and said to be aimed at Phnom Penh seems to be to give the Communists a major victory that will in part divert attention from their inability so far to make good on promises to "liberate" South Vietnam.

Only a month ago both Communist and Western sources believed Hanoi's Cambodian offensive was launched to widen its supply routes toward South Vietnam and to set up new base camps well removed from the Cambodian border area entered by American and South Vietnamese troops last month.

Communist sources say that now the major target is Phnom Penh and the Lon Nol government. A Western source says the primary objective in Indochina is to destroy the pro-Western government that seized power from Prince Norodom Sihanouk March 18.

The Communist scenario, as pieced together from various sources, apparently is supposed to go something like this:

Elements of five North Vietnamese divisions now within fairly easy striking distance of Phnom Penh will begin closing in on the capital. One of the first major attacks will be against Cambodia's small air force, based almost exclusively at Phnom Penh. This will throw the burden of the air war on South Vietnam, or possibly the United States.

Part of Phnom Penh would be taken in an offensive. The hope seemingly is that South Viet-name aircraft would bomb occupied parts of the city.

North Vietnamese cadre are reported to be training upwards of 6,000 Cambodians about 40 miles west of Phnom Penh to be sent into the capital after North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops do the heavy fighting. However, Communist sources say the recently recruited Cambodians have proved extremely disappointing, placing their military role in doubt. Part of the reasoning for sending Cambodians into Phnom Penh could be that these forces would suffer most of any bombing casualties if the South Vietnamese react.

Such a bombing together with continuing rumors—mostly with some foundation—of large-scale South Vietnamese looting in Cambodia might discredit Lon Nol's regime. The new government won a major part of its support by claiming Sihanouk was in collusion with Cambodia's ancient foe, the Vietnamese.

To all this pressure, the Communist may hope to add popular unrest at having Cambodia turned into a major battleground because of a war that basically involves only South and North Vietnamese and their allies. The Communist hope, perhaps slim, is that peace front would emerge.

Given this pressure from below, the Communists may believe that Lon Nol's government will disintegrate. Diplomatic sources say some sort of power crisis is developing here. Power plays in Saigon gravely weakened the government's ability to deal with enemy forces in the countryside there and were one factor that led to American military involvement in South Vietnam.

Southern Liquor Agents Due For Ouster Hearing

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo. (AP) —Liquor agents from Mississippi and Alabama were expected to be among the first witnesses today in the state of Missouri's ouster suit against Sheriff Clyde Orton of Pemiscot County.

Complaints by the southern liquor agents led to an investigation by Missouri officials that prompted Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth to seek Orton's ouster on grounds he permitted wholesale violations of state liquor and gambling laws.

Special Commissioner Ray Weightman, a former Circuit Court judge from Maryville, is hearing the case for the Missouri Supreme Court.

Weightman allowed the state Wednesday to amend its suit to accuse Orton of conspiring to arrange the slaying of a former Caruthersville man, Bud Cook.

Mississippi and Alabama officials complained that when they visited the southeast Missouri county looking for the source of whiskey being shipped to dry counties in their states they were threatened with arrest by Orton and his deputies.

A three-month investigation by Missouri authorities culminated in a series of raids by state officials on bars accused of selling beer or liquor without licenses and of other violations of liquor laws.

Danforth filed his ouster petition with the Missouri Supreme Court in January.

As a result of the state probe, liquor licenses of the Casanova Lounge, Eddie and Jay's and The Sportster in Caruthersville were revoked.

Circumstances of the alleged murder conspiracy against Cook, who operates a produce truck, have not been disclosed by the state.

Cook and his attorney were spectators at Wednesday's opening session of the trial. Cook has

Sheriff in Court

An amended charge that Clyde Orton, left, conspired to contract for the murder of a Caruthersville truck driver was accepted during the first day of an ouster suit against the Pemiscot County sheriff. Orton is shown arriving for the hearing with his attorney James Reeves, Caruthersville, who requested time to file interrogatories to the amended charges. (UPI) declined to comment to newsmen.

Another Danforth motion pending alleges Orton participated in vote fraud by arranging transportation of persons from one polling place to another to vote more than once and paid them off in money and liquor.

Anniversary Celebration At Versailles

(Democrat-Capital Service)

VERSAILLES — Versailles will observe its 135th anniversary with an "anniversary week" starting Saturday, including a parade of marchers in old costumes, members of the Saddle and Siroin Club in costume on horses, floats, old model cars and horse-drawn rigs, and continuing through a week of activities. Events will climax with a horse show at the arena of the Saddle and Siroin Club the nights of June 26-27.

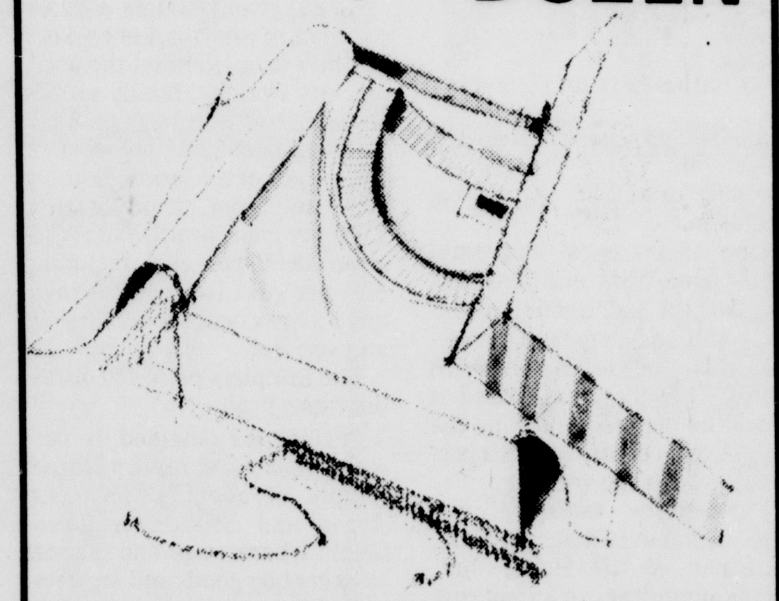

The parade will start at the courthouse square at 10 a.m. Saturday, led by the High School Band. Cash prizes will be awarded in four categories by the Versailles Chamber of Commerce for the best old fashioned costumes. A mod dance band festival will be held on the north porch of the courthouse on Saturday night.

Other activities will include a Girl Scout sing on the courthouse porch at 9:45 a.m. Wednesday, followed by a decorated bicycle parade and an old-fashioned luncheon given at the museum by members of the Morgan County Historical Society. A square dance festival will be held in the street on the east side of the courthouse on Thursday night with well-known musicians and callers and square dancers from over the area.

Business places will hold "old fashioned bargain days" all during the week and the parking meters will be hooded on Wednesday and Friday. Store and shop personnel will wear old costumes.

Communications Gap

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — "Is there anyone in the courtroom who has a wildlife case that hasn't already been disposed of this morning?" Prosecutor Peter S. Gilchrist inquired Tuesday in Mecklenburg District Court.

An elderly man slowly approached the rail. Gilchrist inquired about the charge.

"Oh, destroying property, staying at my house and not working..." the man began in reference to a case involving his 29-year-old son.

Gilchrist smiled and said, "That's wild life, but that's not the kind I'm talking about."

The old man returned to his seat. The son later was given 90 days in jail with a recommendation for work release.

Establish Pig Day

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — City officials have set aside Saturday, July 18, as "Pig Day" in honor of all law enforcement agencies of the city and county.

In conjunction with "Pig Day," the Tuscaloosa Sertoma Club announced Tuesday it is planning a watermelon cutting for the day and will distribute 10,000 lapel buttons and 10,000 bumper stickers dealing with the slogan, "Pride, Integrity and Guts."

The buttons will say, "I'm a PIG Rooter."

Police Report

Raymond Hayes, 646 East Fifth, reported Wednesday someone took a number of tools from his car when it was parked at Liberty Park Tuesday night.

Cost

costs were 6.2 per cent above a year earlier, continuing the more than 6 per cent annual rate of climb that has prevailed for more than a year.

"Charges for consumer services in May showed their smallest monthly rise since late last year. Price increases for nearly all the important groups of services were noticeably smaller than in recent months," the bureau said.

"Used car prices rose sharply in May, 5.3 per cent, and were largely responsible for the one per cent contraseasonal increases for durables. House prices rose more rapidly than in recent months and were almost important in the advance. New car prices declined seasonally," it said.

"Food prices, which usually decline in May, were up," the report said.

"Prices of poultry and eggs fell less than seasonally and prices of fruits, vegetables and dairy products rose more than is usual for May," the report added.

But prices of restaurant meals and other goods consumed away from home slowed from April's pace, it said.

Vote

Mansfield's insistence, tied the 18-year-old voting proposal to the bill extending the Voting Rights Act.

One of the most successful civil rights laws ever enacted, the 1965 act has resulted in adding a million Negroes to the voting rolls in seven Southern states. Its supporters feared it would be dragged under by the weight of so controversial a proposal as teen-age voting.

Particularly unhappy was Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, an ardent supporter of the Voting Rights Act but equally strong in his opposition to lowering the voting age. It was mainly to overcome Celler's opposition that Mansfield devised his strategy.

It worked to perfection Wednesday when Celler led the fight to accept the Senate bill, although still no fan of youthful voting.

Celler said there would be no way to save the Voting Rights Act from expiring in August if the House passed only the Voting Rights extension and followed the normal procedure of a House-Senate conference to tangle over the lower voting age.

Arraign a Man On Risk Fraud Charges Here

Dennis Lee Rose, 1010 West Sixth, was arraigned Thursday in Magistrate Court on charges of stealing and fraud and a trial date set for June 29.

Sheriff Emmett Fairfax arrested Rose early Thursday morning on a state warrant. Magistrate Judge Frank T. Armstrong set bond at $2,500.

Rose, Benny Joe Jaynes, Galt, Mo. and William Bishop, of Marshall, formerly of 1417 South Vermont, allegedly defrauded a Sedalia woman out of $30.

According to the sheriff, the three men told Nancy L. Jenkins, 914 South Beacon, that her insurance policy would be cancelled unless she paid $30. Bishop is presently free on $5,000 bond from Johnson County, where his trial is set for Sept. 11.

William Y. McCaskill, state insurance superintendent, said the two men told policy holders in Henry and Johnson Counties their insurance company was going out of business, but for a fee of $300 to $500 their policies would be picked up by another company.

He said there was no opposition to construction of the new highways.

Satterlee said the Benton County projects were part of the Highway Department's present five-year right-of-way and construction program. He could not estimate when the work might begin.

Concerning work on South Limit, in Sedalia, from Ninth St. south to the city limits, the Highway Department reported that the work had been 64 per cent completed.

The prime contractor for the work, Howard Construction Co., has used 87 of the 170 days allotted in the contract for the work, the department said.

Satterlee reported there had been no serious delays other than those caused by rainy weather. There is no definite date set forth in the contract, which is based on the number of actual working days estimated as necessary to complete construction.

The department said, however, that at the present rate, work might be finished by Oct. 1.

George Cain of the Sing Out Missouri group and Roy McGrath, director of the Lions Broom Sale, were the guests of John Mais, Jay Fayen was the guest of Bob Maxwell. Frank Draper, Springfield, was the guest of Don King.

It was announced by John Kenney that the next meeting will be Ladies Night and initiation of officers and will be held at the Homestead Wednesday night. There will be no noon meeting.

Chief of Police Speaks to Lions

Sedalia Chief of Police William Miller was the featured speaker at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Lions Club at the Bothwell Hotel.

Gary Prosser, program chairman, introduced Chief Miller who presented the film "Take Another Look," an informative film on police work.

The film demonstrated that citizens and police need to look at both sides of any problem, because many times the problem is not what it seems at first glance. Citizens and police must keep an open mind, according to the film.

WALSLEY — James Edward Wain, 27, charged with the statutory rape of his five-year-old step-daughter, waived his preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court here Thursday.

Wain is scheduled to appear before Circuit Court Judge Charles V. Barker Tuesday when an attorney for the defense may be appointed.

Wain, who moved here recently from Olathe, Kan., is being held in the Benton County jail in lieu of $25,000 bond.

The charges were filed after a Warsaw physician confirmed that Wain's step-daughter had been sexually molested, the Benton County Sheriff's Department said.

according to the estimated importance of each.

Food is given a weight of 22.68 per cent of the "market basket" on the estimation that the average city workers' family spends that much of its budget on food.

Housing gets 33.20 per cent of the weight of the index, clothing 10.73 per cent, transportation 13.31 per cent, health and recreation 19.70 per cent including 6.25 per cent for medical care, and 5.12 per cent for other goods and services.

The samplers price 400 different items in all.

"Prices are obtained by personal visit to a representative sample of about 18,000 retail stores and service establishments where wage and clerical workers buy goods and services, including among the establishments chain stores, independent grocery stores, department and specialty stores, restaurants, professional people, and repair and service shops. Rental rates are obtained from about 40,000 tenants," the bureau said.

The field samples are mailed to the bureau's Washington office, where Louis B. Woytych's Division of Data Collection handles it.

Many of the bureau's 200 clerical and statistical experts then pore through the stacks of raw data and prepare it for feeding into a computer for the final compilation of the price figures.

Discuss Highway Projects

(Democrat-Capital Service)

WARSAW — Highway projects estimated to cost about $7.25 million in Benton County were discussed at a public hearing here Wednesday night.

George Satterlee, district engineer for District 4 of the State Highway Department, said the projects involved relocation of sections of existing highways.

Teachers Hold Annual Picnic

The annual spring picnic of the Community Retired Teachers Association was held Wednesday at Liberty Park. Guests were: Miss Ida Cruzan, Miss Marian Keens, Mrs. Mary Maddox, Miss Ruth Renfrow, Mrs. Milo Schroer, Miss Jessie White, and Mrs. Nellie Wild, all of Sedalia, and Miss Catherine Riner, California.

A contributive dinner was served at noon, and the afternoon was spent in visiting. Hostesses for the picnic were members of the social committee, Mrs. Mildred Goddard, Mrs. Louise McKee, Miss Ruth Burford, and Miss Hazel Barnett, of Sedalia, and Mrs. Bereniece Close, Green Ridge.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 16 at the Farm and Home Building.

Bridal Showers

Miss Linda Claycomb

Miss Linda Claycomb, Hughesville was entertained Saturday with a miscellaneous shower by Miss Lynn Summers, Grandview and Mrs. Kenneth Summers. Miss Claycomb was also feted at a brunch and kitchen shower recently by Mrs. Fred Lange and Mrs. Carl Raines.

Miss Claycomb will become the bride of Paul Langewisch June 20.

About Town

The annual Bremer reunion was held Sunday at the shelter house of Liberty Park. The day was spent visiting and a contributive dinner was held.

Mrs. Helen Homan conducted the business meeting and officers elected for the coming year were: Hershel Bremer, president; Mrs. Charles Hopkins, vice president; and Mrs. Oscar Oehrke, secretary and treasurer.

Do Your Own 'Thing' On Your Own Time

NEW YORK — (NEA) — If the midi takes over come fall, it may be a boon for business. The bookkeeper who credited when he should have debited because little Susie across the office showed so much leg will put his figures in the right columns once more.

One source of help is a motion picture called "The Fashion-Right Summer." It's only 18 minutes long and is narrated by Letitia Baldrige, director of consumer affairs for Burlington Industries.

"Tish" Baldrige, author of "Diamonds and Diplomats," has a background that gives her the authority to speak frankly on attire for the working girl. She served as social secretary at the White House and as head of the First Lady's secretariat during the Kennedy administration. She worked for Clare Boothe Luce when Mrs. Luce was our ambassador to Italy. She was the first woman executive at New York's Tiffany & Co. And when she opened her own public relations firm in Chicago, banks and investment companies called on her to lecture and shape up their women employees.

"But my real credentials for spearheading this film," she said, "are my love of fashion and the fact that I have worked all my life since I graduated from college."

The film uses working girls as well as professional models to include women of a wide range of age, type and figure. Most of the fashions shown cost under $20, so that they fall within the budget of office girls.

"The primary message," Miss Baldrige said, "is: Don't distract in an office. When overdone, anything will distract."

"What girls should understand," she continued, "is that it's fine to do your own thing — but do it on your own time."

Some of her examples of don'ts on the job are bare legs, clunky jewelry, see-through blouses, overteased hairdos and pantsuits.

"Pantsuits are fine," Tish said, "but unless the girl has a job in the fashion field and is confident of how to dress, she may start out in a trim pantsuit and then slide into slacks, jeans, fancy tops that belong at home. And she'll look awful on the job."

Proper length in hems is discussed in the film, along with the appropriate underpinnings in relation to a woman's age and size. And weekend sportswear and at-home fashions are shown to emphasize the fact that there is a time and place for many kinds of fashion.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Lord Charles Spencer Churchill, 6-foot-6, 29-year-old son of the Duke of Marlborough, is probably a man one would least expect to do the commentary on a fashion show. But in his new job as roving ambassador for Allied Chemical he did just that, along with socialist, Mrs. Clyde Newhouse (Maggi McNellis to her former television fans).

The occasion was a benefit for the Colleagues, an organization which provides assistance to young women in temporary need. And the party was held at the Bel Air, Calif., home of Mrs. Howard Keck.

It was a great fashion "do." Such designers as Werle, Georgia Bullock, Jean Louis, Travilla and other notables did the California clothes. Among the designs from New York were goodies by Jacques Tiffau, Saasi, Adolpho and Malcolm Starr. All the designs were done in Touch nylon and modeled by socialites, including Mrs. Alfred Bloomingdale, Mrs. Clark Gable, Mrs. Ray Milland and dozens of other very rich ladies and their daughters.

Lord Charles, who in London is part of a public relations firm that represents Sotheby's and several other large art galleries, doesn't feel that the hope from art to fashion will be too difficult.

"Although I'm a conservative dresser myself," he said, "I feel that I do know something about fashion. In England, you know, a man has a certain say in what women wear. And I am very outspoken with my dates."

"I think a lot of women dress on nothing and can do it extremely well if they have taste. It is a form of challenge."

Lord Charles says he has great affection for American women. He spends a good deal of time in the States and has met many. But he doesn't believe the ideal girl exists. If he finds devotion and loyalty, he's happy. "Beauty is a nice addition but it doesn't mean everything," he added.

It might be worth a try to get invited to the next fashion show the handsome bachelor will tackle. But make sure you're put together tastefully. He does like that.

Club Notes

The Smelser 4-H Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kraft, President. Beverly Fowler presided and pledges were led by Delaine Schroeder.

Demonstrations were given by Carlotta Knight, Beverly Fowler, and Jeff Jackson. Project reports were given and Donna Kraft gave a program on health.

The Ringen Brushy 4-H Club met recently to discuss plans for an ice cream social to be held July 8 at the Ringen Brushy Community Center. A swimming party was also planned and demonstrations were given by Elaine Rehmer, Ann Atkinson, Kevin Hoehns and Mike Bahner.

BPW Plans Programs

Mrs. G. A. Boyd, 1970-71 program chairman of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's Club, was hostess to a planning meeting Monday at her home.

Plans for the year were discussed and requirements for awards explained. Two areas were decided on as continuing programs, environmental quality and cultural progress.

Programs for the year and the chairman in charge are: July, personal development, Miss Diane Draisey; August, program, Mrs. Boyd; September, scholarship, Mrs. Herbert Berlin; October, public relations, Mrs. R. Price; November, finance, Mrs. Wayne Hood; December, social, Mrs. Frank Streit; January, world affairs, Mrs. R. M. Glenn; February, legislation, Mrs. Bob Pahlow; March, membership, Mrs. Marjorie Dey; April, civic participation, Miss Erna Ann McClure; and May, music, Mrs. Andy Yeager.

Mrs. Jack Blackwell, club president, assigned committee members and announced a committee meeting for the personal development committee Thursday night.

New Interlining

At last, there's a flexible interlining for use in waistbands and hems of women's clothing. With this new fabric, curling and wrinkling becomes unheard of. The interlining is made of cotton warp and a filling of Vylor nylon filament. Among its many virtues is complete washability. Look for it when shopping.

Airport's Wings Clipped

Almost 20 months after Sedalians passed a $790,000 bond issue for the improvement of the Municipal Airport, it is becoming increasingly clear that the improvement — if indeed it ever comes — will not be along the lines local citizens were led to believe.

Recent statements by Sedalia Airport Board members indicate that the city is no longer thinking in terms of an airport to accommodate air carrier service, but instead a "general aviation"-oriented expansion. In short, the accent has shifted from an airport designed to serve the public to one geared primarily to the needs of private aviation.

This would appear to be a fundamental change of direction from the original plan. While a radically scaled-down version of an improved airport may be the best Sedalia can hope for at this time, the sky was the limit when the bonds were passed.

At the time of the promotion on behalf of the airport expansion, back in the distant summer of 1968, in rebuttal to the charge that an improved airport would serve only private aircraft, it was stressed that an adequate airport would really serve the entire city. This was mainly by virtue of Ozark Airlines providing the city with passenger, freight and direct air mail service.

Invasion Plot a Slapstick Comedy

WASHINGTON — The zany details of CBS's abortive attempt to film an invasion of Haiti all the way through to the anticipated "assassination" of Papa Doc Duvalier, the Haitian dictator, is described in a congressional report kept under lock and key.

Jack Anderson

The invasion plot was a slapstick, Marx Brothers adventure, better suited for an episode of the spy spoof "Get Smart" than a CBS documentary. At one point, the conspirators, wearing a hidden CBS mike, tried to shake down Papa Doc for $200,000. They approached the Haitian consul in Miami, Eugene Maximilian, and offered to call off the invasion for a satchel full of greenbacks.

Six of the invasion leaders, ultimately, were convicted of violating U.S. laws. The House subcommittee which investigated the madcap 1966 affair, however, was disappointed that CBS escaped conviction.

Copies of the subcommittee's report were taken out of the locked files this week and submitted to the members for their comments and corrections. This column has obtained a bootleg copy.

—CBS Scolded—

On almost every page, the report rebukes CBS, charging in summary:

"CBS funds were provided for the leasing of a 67-foot schooner which was to be utilized by the invasion force; expenses were reimbursed for the transportation of weapons which were to be subsequently used by the conspirators; various payments were made to Rolando Masferrer, the leader of the invasion conspiracy, with full knowledge of his identity and criminal intentions. If these acts did not actually involve the network in the conspiracy to violate the U.S. Neutrality Act, they came dangerously close to doing so.

"There were, undeniably, misadventures and other circumstances involving both the conspirators and the CBS News organization which, in retrospect, seem humorous and even ridiculous. This should not obscure the fact that hundreds of thousands of dollars and many hundreds of man-hours were expended in the accumulation and assembly of a massive stockpile of illegal military paraphernalia for unlawful use against a government which, however reprehensible some may view its policies, is nevertheless at peace with the U.S.

"A diplomatic representative of this same foreign power was subjected to an attempted extortion, an attempt which was facilitated by the use of hidden recording equipment supplied by CBS News personnel and used by an individual who was himself in the pay of CBS News." The report identifies one of the alleged shakedown artists as Ralph Serrano, alias Ralph Almonte, who has "a substantial criminal record and was recently deported to the Dominican Republic."

CBS made payments to the plotters, including Serrano, in cash. The subcommittee estimates that the network's total outlay "in its unsuccessful attempt to document the overthrow of the Haitian government exceeded $200,000." This money, the

Forty Years Ago

The Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Company has placed in operation at the Sedalia car shops, of which Harry Brunckhorst is superintendent, a new department for repairing and rebuilding steel passenger car equipment. Twenty more men have been employed.

The steering committee for the airport bonds even went so far as to run advertisements showing an Ozark Airlines jetprop, which would presumably be Sedalia's if only the bond issue were passed. Several city and airport officials were quoted to the effect that Ozark was waiting in the wings to serve Sedalia once the airport was improved.

It has since become evident that neither Ozark Airlines nor the Civil Aeronautics Board agrees with this viewpoint. The former has exhibited notable apathy at the prospect of serving Sedalia, and the latter has termed the whole prospect one with "limited chance of success and . . . limited public benefits."

If the type airport currently envisioned by the Airport Board is a bird of a different feather than the one Sedalians voted for in 1968, then the voters deserve to be fully informed as to what their money will be used for, in contrast to the purposes for which it was originally intended.

An important step in this direction would be the scheduling of meetings of the Sedalia Airport Board on a regular, pre-announced basis, with its proceedings fully open to news media coverage for the edification of Sedalia's taxpayers.

report strongly suggests, helped to finance the illegal operation.

—Chain of Invasions—

CBS, of course, has taken vigorous exception to the subcommittee's charges. In letters to Chairman Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., CBS officials have insisted that their reporters and cameramen sought merely to record a news event, not to influence it in any way. CBS funds did not finance the invasion attempt, declare the officials, but merely covered normal expenditures for a documentary.

The conspirators originally intended to invade Cuba and overthrow Dictator Fidel Castro. They decided this could be accomplished best from a base in Haiti. So, as a preliminary exercise, they chose to invade Haiti and overthrow Duvalier. Then they calculated it would be easier to conquer Haiti from a base in the Dominican Republic and considered beginning their counter-revolutionary activity with an invasion of the Dominican Republic. But they thought better of this and, instead, tried to negotiate with the Dominican Republic for the use of a base.

CBS gave $1,500 to a shadowy munitions dealer, named Mitchell Wer Bel III, to conduct these implausible negotiations. As it happened, the Dominican Republic turned down the deal and kicked Wer Bel's representative out of the country.

By the time Wer Bel's secret testimony was taken, he looked back on the invasion plot as a lark.

—Grim Comedy—

"I took this whole project as entertaining comedy," he testified. "I felt that this was a very amateurish attempt at something which I didn't know really what was going on, and it was an interlude of entertainment as far as I was concerned. Even my nom de guerre was based on entertainment and levity. I was known as Eric Straff." He went along with the plotters, he said, because "I was carried away by the ham instinct in me."

He testified that CBS had also put up a $1,500 down payment to lease the "mother ship" for the invasion — a 67-foot skiff known as "Poor Richard" which got no further than the plotters' hideout at the luxurious Ocean Reef resort on Key Largo, Fla. The bills at Ocean Reef were also paid by CBS.

"The boat never had anything on it except a few good, long drinking sessions," testified Wer Bel. It was seized by creditors, and the conspirators were obliged to change their strategy from a seaborne to an airborne invasion.

CBS finally got tired of paying the bills for this great nonadventure and, after taking 45,000 feet of film over an eight-month period, cancelled the project. William Leonard, vice president of CBS News, explained in an interoffice memo: "We see simply the nonadventure of a ragtag crew next to whom Duvalier himself looks good, a gang openly flouting U.S. law, in the end to no purpose."

Footnote: My friend, Walter Cronkite, scolded me from coast-to-coast recently for publishing a White House memo which accused CBS of faking horror scenes from Vietnam. He suggested that the White House had planted the memo with me in order to discredit CBS. I hope Walter won't now accuse the Democrats, who run the House subcommittee, of conspiring with the Republicans at the White House to discredit CBS.

Neither the White House memo nor the subcommittee report were planted with me. It took a good deal of digging to bring these confidential documents into the sunlight. Nor is my purpose to discredit CBS which, in my opinion, has the best news staff of all the networks. I simply believe that news-gathering organizations, my own included, should be as subject to public scrutiny as the government agencies they cover.

Sands of Time

Cut the 'Take' and Slow Drug Traffic

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

No official this reporter has talked to has any hope for a quick end to the heroin trade in the United States.

But one long-range approach holds promise.

It is based on the thesis that the underworld men in the heroin traffic, besides being criminals, are hard-headed businessmen—and that they will drop a product (heroin) if it doesn't pay off.

This approach involves a series of piecemeal attacks, year in and year out, aimed at making operations so costly for the worldwide complex of smugglers, "bankrollers," contact men and processors that they'll turn to other, more profitable lines.

Experts say they've seen this kind of shift in the past. The first step is to make heroin harder to get and therefore more costly where it's grown.

By agreement, Turkey (source of 80 per cent of U.S. heroin) is cutting back on the provinces in which opium may legally be produced.

This won't reduce opium output. But it will make growing illegal in the border provinces. Policing could be more effective with legal production limited to a relatively small region in the center of the country.

The U.S. government is also doing what it can to help Ankara buy and store the opium crop immediately at harvest. The delay between harvesting and government purchase for medical use is an active period for smugglers.

On paper, these steps should make the job of the smuggler more difficult. But this may not work so well in practice.

It's not the money the Turkish farmer makes. Opium may account for but $50 out of an annual income of something more than $1,000. But it is a handy cash crop farmers can grow in the off-season. More importantly, opium growing and smuggling are old traditions, ones the farmers won't give up easily.

The U.S. Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs hopes to put a series of small but costly roadblocks at each step of the road from Turkey on through the chain of interlocking illegal organizations through which the opium-morphine-heroin moves to the U.S. addict.

The aim is to find the vulnerable points in the system and attack these.

This means looking at "the organization"—the skilled scientists who produce the heroin in the French laboratories, the couriers who carry the heroin from France to Canada, Brazil or the United States, the smuggler operating in Turkey, the Turkish farmer, the Mafia and other operations in the United States, the men who make the deals along the route and settle whatever arguments arise—and through this determine the weak points.

But first, of course, the U.S. agents must find and identify the organizations. That is not turning out to be easy.

The U.S. government has little information on how the distribution systems operate, who the key men are in each country. They have bits and pieces of information. That is all.

Government agents point out that a good many of the men in opium smuggling, production and distribution also seem to be tied into other rackets and illegalities. One hope is that when a key man is found he may be arrested and convicted of something—anything to get him out of circulation for awhile.

Extra tricks don't mean much in rubber bridge. Nevertheless a couple of hundred extra tricks taken during the course of a year amount to several thousand points and if you can get an extra trick without any risk why not go after it. Of course, in duplicate bridge these extra tricks are just as necessary as bread and butter.

South might well have made some effort to reach a slam with his two aces and seven-card spade suit but South was in a lazy frame of mind and decided to just bid game.

West opened the nine of hearts. South won with the ace, played his ace of trumps and then cashed dummy's king and queen of hearts in order to get rid of his losing club.

At this point South might well have conceded a trump and a diamond and scored one overtrick, but South was not going anywhere in a hurry and thought he might as well score two overtricks instead of one.

He started operation overtrick by ruffing a club in his own hand. Then he threw West in with the king of trumps and waited developments.

They weren't long in coming. West could see that a club lead would allow South to set up two of dummy's clubs for diamond discards and since West's count of the hand marked South with exactly three diamonds, two diamond discards would be all he needed.

Therefore West led a low diamond in the hope that East would hold the queen. South let it ride to his queen and claimed the rest of the tricks.

Prospect Dim for Wallace in '72

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — From a slightly longer perspective, with new information still trickling in, George Wallace's very narrow squeak over Gov. Albert Brewer in Alabama looks more and more remarkably unique.

A friend of mine in the state stood in the voting line behind an old lady who had never before voted in her life. She intimated she was voting for Wallace, and that she knew several other lady first-voters who were turning out because "their man" seemed in danger.

Wallace is estimated to have received about 75 per cent of the unusual 34,000 additional vote registered in the month between the May 5 primary, led by Brewer, and the June 2 runoff.

Though the official vote will not be tallied for awhile, all present indications are that the June 2 total surpassed the first turnout. The conventional word was that a substantial fall-off could be expected.

Critical to Brewer, furthermore, was his loss to Wallace on June 2 of 10 northern Alabama counties the incumbent governor had won the first time. Wallace, in his turn, gave up only one county to Brewer — a Black Belt county (Greene) the former governor had won May 5 because many black voters stayed home.

Key to Brewer's slide in northern Alabama was the fact that many white blue-collar workers who originally voted for a third candidate, Dothan businessman Charles Woods, went for Wallace.

Raging harder than ever is the argument where this leaves the 1968 third party presidential candidate in the national or even regional picture. A win by perhaps less than 51 per cent in a runoff is hardly a big smash for a man in his home state.

As I noted in an earlier report, Wallace will be hard put to make good on his crucial promises to roll back school integration advances mainly directed by the courts rather than his prime target, President Nixon.

In his campaign, he made a host of other promises, the net of which was he would offer Alabama citizens many more services while cutting their taxes. One weekly newspaper editor added up 40 promises he made that involve spending more money.

Evidently he is already hedging on the tax issue. He pledged himself to eliminate a 4 per cent sales levy on groceries. Lately he has been talking about holding this cut to "essential groceries," or maybe having it apply only for food-stamp (low income) customers. A full cut would deprive Alabama of some $43 million in revenue.

No one can be sure what Wallace will do on the racial scene, though the expectation is he will seek some sort of dramatic confrontation with the Nixon administration — possibly by reopening some closed all-black schools and ordering teachers to appear there.

Analysts disagree on the effect of any such moves, and on Wallace's general prospects for another presidential run in 1972. Some think he holds credibility with racial conservatives across the South just by trying, even if he loses the fights. Others believe his tight squeeze over Brewer is evidence he has already suffered severe loss of face.

One acute political specialist, not a southerner, thinks Wallace's national heyday is over, that Nixon in 1972 will not only hold the five southern states he won in 1968 but take Texas from the Democrats as well. In Texas, Wallace's 19 per cent cost Nixon a big slug of electoral votes by a single point.

Says this specialist: "George was a phenomenon last time. He's going to have to come up with some very good cards to be a phenomenon again. I doubt that he can do it."

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Heed Doctor's Advice On Aspirin Dosage

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

If you have arthritis, aspirin is the best single remedy you can take unless you have a sensitivity to it or can't use it for some other reason. Before embarking on a course of self-treatment, however, you should have your doctor determine whether you really have arthritis and, if so, what type. He should also advise you about the dosage and about other elements in the total treatment.

Beside relieving pain, aspirin also reduces inflammation. This is especially important in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis. For this reason it is important for anyone with this type of arthritis to continue taking the prescribed dosage even after the pain subsides — otherwise the anti-inflammatory effect is lost. Don't change your dosage without consulting your doctor.

Persons with arthritis can usually tolerate much larger doses of aspirin than a normal person and should take the dosage just below that which causes ringing of the ears. If you are the type who can take aspirin and find that it is helping you, you should consider buying plain aspirin in a bottle of 1,000 tablets as this will mean an appreciable saving.

Q — What causes motion sickness? What is the remedy? I get it from merely bending over or getting up quickly from lying in bed.

A — True motion sickness occurs in persons whose equilibrium regulating apparatus (inner ear) is unduly sensitive. There are several effective remedies, such as meclizine (Bonine) and amphetamine (Fetamin), but dizziness induced by sudden changes in posture is not true motion sickness. This type of dizziness can usually be avoided by making these changes in position slowly. For extreme dizziness the aforementioned drugs are often helpful.

Q — What is Roche given for? What are the side effects?

A — Although Roche was printed on the capsule you sent, this is the manufacturer's name. I cannot identify most of the capsules sent to me but this one happens to be Librium, a tranquilizer. The side effects from too large a dosage include drowsiness, nausea and mental confusion.

Married Nurses

The American Nurses' Association reports there are nearly three times as many employed registered nurses who are married as compared to those who are single. Married women comprised 63.5 per cent of the total in 1966, while single nurses made up 22.4 per cent.

Will it or won't it — that's one of the questions being asked in the auto racing circles in central Missouri, concerning Sportsman's Speedway in Marshall.

Negotiations have been underway for some time by Woody Carpenter of Clarksburg, who currently intends to open the racing facility in early July — possibly by July 3 — probably on July 10.

The track, which has not seen auto racing since last season, has been closed due to a number of complications this year.

Carpenter, who also runs Woody's Speedway near Clarksburg on a regular Sunday night basis, commented Tuesday that the final negotiations should be made by June 23.

Anyone who knows the track and the many problems that have arisen since the 1969 racing season closed, easily understands the situation — sub-par facilities, financial problems, personality conflicts, as well as mismanagement.

Sportsman's Speedway is the only remaining Central Missouri Racing Association track, the current facility was built in 1954, which accounts for some of its run-down look.

The CMRA, whose roots go all the way back to 1950, has sanctioned only one race this year — that being Tuesday night at Bolivar (Mo.) Speedway. There, in an area where only a small number of the fans had ever even seen a sprint (supermodified) car, they viewed in awe as each of the cars slid to the high-banked, narrow turns with clockings in the 18's and 19's.

Prior to that show, southwest Missouri racing fans were content to sit back and enjoy a night of rough-house stock car competition, on the short, three-eighths mile track.

Bolivar Speedway is in just the opposite situation as Sportsman's Speedway: Bolivar is suffering from growing pains, while the Marshall track is suffering from age, lack of rehabilitation and decreasing crowds.

Looking at the situation from the outside, it seems as if Sportsman's will have to do two things.

First of all (and most importantly), the track will have to be made safe for drivers and spectators alike.

Secondly, enough money will have to be put in the purse to make it worthwhile for the drivers to compete on it.

Unless this is done — the gates might as well be locked for good.

This situation, as in most situations with auto racing, the cycle will have to be started from a good foundation — if you offer the

Boston Takes Series

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ken Brett said he didn't think he could go nine innings but checked Kansas City on three hits as Boston turned back the Royals 3-1 Wednesday night.

Brett, sitting in the clubhouse after the game in his soggy uniform, was asked when he felt he could finish the game.

"When I had two out in the ninth," the left-hander said.

The 93-degree heat affected the young Californian who picked up his first victory of the season against two defeats.

"I like hot weather — but this is heat," the 21-year-old said. "I didn't believe it could get this hot. How many did I walk? Too many."

Brett walked four and struck out eight. He got his friend, Bob Floyd, on strikes three times. Both live in El Segundo, Calif.

"I'm really sorry he struck out three times," Brett said of the Royals shortstop who they got in a trade Monday. "I wish he could have hit the ball hard three times — at someone."

The Red Sox wrapped up the game in the sixth when Dave Morehead, 2-3, walked three men with one out. George Scott grounded to Floyd who threw to Cookie Rojas as Carl Yastrzemski scored.

Then, Rico Petrocelli banded into Rojas who threw wild to first permitting Reggie Smith to score. Boston's other run came in the first when Mike Andrews singled, went to third on Yastrzemski's double and scored on a fielder's choice.

The Royals tied it in the bottom of the first when Amos Otis was safe on an error, stole second and scored on Lou Piniella's single.

purse, the cars will show up; when the cars show up the crowd will do likewise. A bad foundation could mean a quick ending to Carpenter's Sportsman's Speedway plans.

Last week, Marshall High School unofficially dropped out of the Missouri River Valley Conference and joined the new North Missouri Conference as a charter member.

Other charter members of the conference, which is scheduled for operation in 1971 are Brookfield, Kirksville, Moberly and Trenton.

Chillicothe is also showing an interest in joining the new loop.

Chillicothe, like Brookfield, Kirksville and Trenton have all had their league affiliation with the North Central Missouri Conference.

This makes the second school in less than one year to announce that it is dropping out of the MRVC — Excelsior Springs made it known sometime back that they would be leaving that league after the 1970-71 season.

Excelsior Springs will be stepping up to the Suburban Seven Conference in Greater Kansas City.

The official move on the part of Marshall High School Principal Alvin R. Lowe and Cliff Lear, director of activities at MHS, should be given at the school district's next board meeting, Tuesday night.

The North Missouri Conference activities are slated to begin in 1971 with football, cross country, basketball, wrestling, track and field, tennis and golf.

Dennis Droege and Ted Bozarth of the Central Missouri State College Mules' basketball team were recently placed on the NCAA District Five All-American team.

Both athletes were also named to the MIAA first team following the close of the 1969-70 season after leading the Mules to a 19-6 record and a second place finish in the NCAA Regional playoffs in Brookings, South Dakota.

Droege, a 6'4" forward and the only senior on the Mule squad this past season, was the team's leading rebounder and second leading scorer. He pulled down a total of 241 rebounds during the season and averaged 16.7 points per contest while scoring 417 points.

Bozarth, a 6'3" junior guard, led the Mules balanced scoring attack with 453 total points good for an 18.1 average. During the course of the season he became only the fifth player in CMSC history to score over 1,000 career points.

The Missouri Department of Conservation says develop a compost heap that cuts down on organic waste. Leaf rakings, lawn clippings, etc., all can be composted to provide terrific garden fertilizer. The value of organically-grown gardens has been proved time and again.

Surf Club Will Be Represented

The Sedalia Surf Club will be represented in the Ozark Invitational Swim Meet at Springfield, June 20-21.

Jo Ann Maxwell, senior girl swimmer, will participate in the two day event which annually attracts many of the top swimmers of the Midwest.

Miss Maxwell will compete in three events including the 100-meter backstroke, 100-meter freestyle and 50-meter freestyle.

The Surf Club team will see its first action on June 27th when the group travels to Marshall for competition.

Mac Foster, who went into the featured fight at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night against Jerry Quarry as the favorite, is pulled off the ropes by referee Tony LoBianco during the sixth round. Quarry was awarded the bout on a TKO. The win adds to his chances of meeting heavyweight title holder, Joe Frazier.

Cardinal Pitching Sparks N.L.

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Gibson was firing bullets but fortunately for San Diego, one of his blazing missiles misfired, saving the Padres the embarrassment of being no-hit victims for the second time within a week.

Ivan Murrell was the mini-hero of the Padres, expoding a two-out eighth inning single—the only hit—off the overpowering St. Louis righthander, who faced only 29 batters as the Cardinals routed San Diego 8-0 Wednesday night.

In other National League action, Los Angeles blanked Pittsburgh 4-0. Atlanta nipped Montreal 6-5. Cincinnati stopped the New York Mets 7-4. Chicago belted San Francisco 6-1 and Philadelphia whipped Houston 4-2.

In the American League, Milwaukee dropped Baltimore 5-1. Boston trimmed Kansas City 3-1. Washington edged Minnesota 3-1. Chicago topped New York 6-3 and Detroit socked Oakland 9-7. The California at Cleveland contest was postponed by rain.

Only five nights earlier, Dock Ellis of the Pirates tossed the season's only no-hitter, blanking the Padres 2-0.

And Gibson, the 34-year-old, four-time 20-game winner, now 8-3 after reeling off his sixth consecutive victory, appeared on his way to the first no-hitter of his brilliant career.

Only one ball was hit hard, a liner in the fifth by Ron Slocum, but it was right at first baseman Rich Allen, until Murrell drilled a sharp grounder over second base and into center field in the eighth.

Gibson Tosses 8-0 One-Hitter

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Bob Gibson won his 175th game as a St. Louis Cardinal and it was a masterful performance, but he said with dejection:

"I doubt if I'll ever get one. This is as close as I've come."

Gibson was perspiring in front of his locker after pitching 7 2-3 innings of hitless baseball Wednesday night against the San Diego Padres. Ivan Murrell broke the spell with a sharp grounder over second base and Bullet Bob settled for a one-hit, 8-0 victory.

"I throw too many high pitches... that's where their eyes are," said Gibson, explaining why he hasn't thrown a no-hitter in more than nine seasons as an outstanding National League pitcher.

The winner of the 1968 Cy Young Award as the league's top pitcher, wound up with his second one-hitter instead of his first no-hitter because "Murrell hit a high fast ball."

"Sure I thought about a no-hitter — doesn't everybody?" said Gibson. "I thought about it, especially after the sixth inning. And after the seventh, Richie Allen said as we came off the field, 'well, only six more outs.' I said, 'not the way I'm going.' I meant the way I haven't been able to pitch a no-hitter."

Gibson, 34, struck out 13 Padres and walked two while improving his record to 8-3 in a bid to win 20 or more games for the fifth time.

He threw a one-hitter five years ago against Philadelphia. But there was no suspense then as he surrendered the hit early in the game.

He said he was "hitting the corners with everything" against San Diego and had a perfect game until the fifth inning when he walked Nate Colbert.

"My control is better than it usually is," he said. "But I had better control in Philly." He referred to his 3-1 victory with 16 strikeouts May 23 in Philadelphia.

Padre second baseman Dave Campbell, hitless in four at-bats, said Gibson had "outstanding stuff but the umpire called me out on one pitch that was outside."

Campbell suggested the umpire gave Gibson too much corner.

"The same pitch that is a strike for Gibson is a ball for Coombs," said Campbell. Padre starter and loser Danny Coombs, 6-5, left the game after six innings, trailing 3-0.

Padre Manager Preston Gomez called Gibson a great competitor. Gibson also had two hits, driving home a pair of runs and scoring another.

The Padres were victims last Friday night of the season's only no-hitter, a 2-0 defeat at the hands of Dock Ellis of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Fred Whisler Adds To I-70 Point Lead

ODESSA — Fred Whisler, who pilots a 1970 Ford Torino, has increased his stock car point standing at I-70 Speedway near Odessa, according to the latest statistics released by track officials.

Whisler leads Dave Wall of Kansas City, by more than 100 points — 1,052½ to 942½.

Standings
Fred Whisler	1,052½
Dave Wall	942½
Terry Bivins	622½
Lewis Taylor	522½
Roy McClellan	492½
Gene Chapman	472½
Harold Young	430
Jim Still	405
Gordie Blankenship	315
Jim Hager	310

Gibson, the NL's Cy Young Award and Most Valuable Player while leading the Cards to the 1968 pennant, finished with 13 strikeouts and walked only two batters. One was wiped out on a double play.

The Omaha, Neb., native had come close once before, limiting Philadelphia to a lone hit in 1965.

Jose Cardenal backed Gibson's performance, stroking three doubles, scoring twice and driving in a pair of runs. Gibson also delivered two run-scoring singles and lowered his ERA to 3.76 while upping his strikeouts to 126 in 107 2-3 innings, second in the league to Tom Seaver's 129.

Claude Osteen, bagging his ninth victory, staggered for five innings, allowing the Pirates six of their seven hits before handing Pittsburgh its second straight shutout loss.

The loser was Ellis, making his first start since his no-hitter against the Padres. The fast-balling right-hander retired the first 10 Dodger hitters before Manny Mota singled. Wes Parker then drove in Mota and Los Angeles added a pair of runs in the sixth on run-scoring hits by Andy Kosco and Bill Grabarke-witz.

Gil Garrido drilled an eighth-inning triple and came home on Rico Carty's single as the Braves came from behind to stop the Expos.

Montreal led 4-0 before Braves starter Jim Nash ripped a two-run homer. Mike Lum's two-run double in the seventh tied it for Atlanta at 5-5 before Carty's game winner. Jim Gosger homered for the Expos.

Pinch hitter Hal McRae lined a run-scoring single to cap a three-run ninth as the Reds rallied for their victory, snapping the Mets' winning streak at four games.

Lee May's 16th homer of the season—a two-run shot—had tied it in the eighth. John Bench added his 21st of the year for the Red while Tommie Agee and Cleon Jones homered for New York.

Ernie Banks slammed a three-run blast and Paul Popovich a solo homer while Jim Hickman contributed a two-run double in the Cubs' triumph

Ken Holtzman, 8-3, posted his fifth consecutive victory, holding the Giants to seven hits, including Willie Mays' 15th homer. Mays also cracked a single, pulling him within 20 hits of the exclusive 3,000-hit club.

Deron Johnson rapped a pair of doubles, driving in the deciding run and setting up an insurance marker in the Phillies' victory.

Championship Berth Gained By Florida S.

OMAHA (AP)—Florida State, never in the winner's circle of the College World Series in four previous trips, and Southern California, champion five times, the last in 1968, clash Thursday night for the NCAA baseball pennant.

As the top-ranked Trojans watched, having drawn a bye in the double-elimination tournament Wednesday night, Florida State stamped No. 2 Texas out of the meet 11-2. The No. 3 Seminoles will carry 49-8 season mark against the Trojans 50-13, as the two teams meet for the first time in the tourney.

USC Coach Rod Dedeaux is expected to start sophomore righthander Greg Widman (6-3) with Coach Jack Stallings of Florida State countering with junior southpaw Pat Osburn (12-2). Each has a World Series victory.

Gene Amman was the big hero Wednesday night. The Seminoles' unbeaten junior righthander who entered the game with a 0.50 ERA, spaced seven hits, fanned 7 and walked 4 for victory No. 15. His scoreless streak ended after 4 1-3 innings when Texas pitcher Walt Rothe hammered a two-run homer in the fifth inning—his first of the year.

The Seminoles collected 13 hits off five pitchers, pinning the loss on starter James Street (8-2) who filled the bases on walks after one out in the first inning and was yanked.

Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson said that Street—quarterback of the Longhorns national football champions last year—had aggravated a pulled groin muscle on his first pitch of the game.

Upset Win By Quarry

NEW YORK (AP) — The fight game's slam-bang, good old days were on review as part of a tribute to Jack Dempsey. Then, the crowd settled back and watched Jerry Quarry burst a brand-new boxing bubble by stopping previously unbeaten Mac Foster.

That was Madison Square Garden Wednesday night as a crowd of 15,915 turned out to wish a happy 75th birthday to Dempsey, the old Manassa Mauler, and sit in on the big town debut of Foster, the massive ex-Marine from Fresno, Calif., with 24 knockouts in 24 fights.

They roared as Dempsey, the legend and the memory, demolished Jess Willard and Georges Carpentier on large movie screens at each end of the arena.

Then they roared as Foster, the new heavyweight sensation, went down before the flailing fists of Quarry, the California Irishman who put himself back into the role of a leading contender for Joe Frazier's title.

Foster met sports writers after the fight, seated side-by-side with Quarry, and accepted his loss with grace.

"It's not really that bad a feeling," the 27-year-old veteran of six years in the Marines said of his first loss. "I'd rather lose to a worthy opponent than one who wasn't. Then, I'd really feel bad."

What mistake did he make? "I dropped my left."

And when he dropped his left in the sixth, Quarry caught him with a right and then battered him about the ring, finally knocking him through the ropes and on to the ring apron with another right. The count reached three and referee Johnny LoBianco stopped it. The time was 2:09.

Redlegs Will Conduct Camp In St. Joseph

ST. JOSEPH — A special two-day tryout camp for baseball players will be conducted by the Cincinnati Reds on July 17 and 18 at St. Joseph High School. Sophomores and juniors are urged to attend.

Reds Scouting Supervisor Chet Montgomery will oversee the tryout which is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Phil Welch Stadium.

Montgomery will be assisted by scouts Tony Poloski, Jim Dawson and Joe Rock. All eligible players are requested to furnish their own personal gear — shoes, uniforms, gloves. The Reds will provide bats and baseballs.

In addition, players will be responsible for traveling and living expense, if any, unless they are signed to contracts with Cincinnati Reds organization teams.

Players must be 16 years-of-age to be eligible and all American Legion players must have written approval from their legion coaches or post commanders if attendance at the tryout is in direct conflict with American Legion activities.

Players attending high schools still in session will be permitted to participate only upon presentation of written permission from the principal of the high school they attend.

Dolph Says No!

Simpson Deal Falls Through

DENVER (AP) — Possible open warfare between the NCAA and the professional American Basketball Association over the Denver Rockets signing a Michigan State star with two years' eligibility left apparently has been averted by league action rejecting the contract.

Less than 24 hours after the Rockets announced they had signed Ralph Simpson as "a hardship case," ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph turned thumbs down.

Dolph said Wednesday in a statement that "if such a contract does in fact exist and is submitted to the commissioner, it would be rejected and a $10,000 fine assessed against the Denver club.

Don Ringsby, president and general manager of the Rockets, had announced Simpson's signing with some fanfare Tuesday. But after the commissioner's statement was issued on the first day of the ABA's annual meeting, Ringsby said he would have nothing to say.

However, he gave strong indication the Rockets are not likely to risk the fine by adding,

"I am bound by the action of the league at our meeting this morning. I could be fined if I said anything."

Less than a year ago the Rockets signed Spencer Haywood, a University of Detroit star, who, like Simpson had completed only his sophomore year. Denver also termed this a hardship situation.

Dolph issued his statement in the Simpson case after the NCAA headquarters in Kansas City had called upon member schools to boycott the ABA.

Later, University of Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp, president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, announced, "The air is cleared."

"It's all over," Rupp said, apparently referring to the call for a boycott. "I've had a call from Commissioner Dolph and it's all over with."

The assistant executive director of the NCAA, Arthur Bergstrom, said at Kansas City the collegiate organization would have no further comment immediately. He said, "We'll just hold that in abeyance and see what happens regarding Simpson."

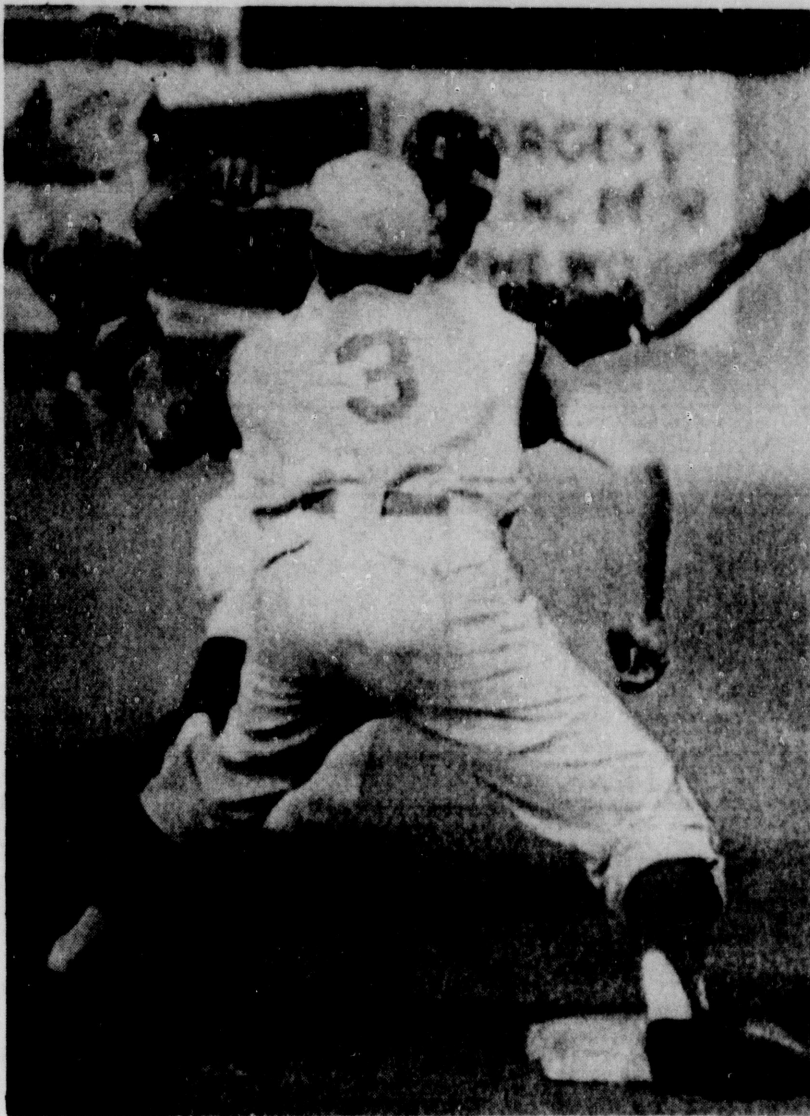

Dolph said at a news conference Wednesday night that officials of two ABA clubs had been contacted by a man identifying himself as Simpson. "I'd rather not say what franchises these were and we have no proof it was Simpson who actually made the calls," he said.

Asked about the possibility of court action concerning the Simpson-Rocket contract, Dolph said, "If we have to go to court, we will."

In his statement earlier, Dolph said the Rockets' signing of Simpson "violates provisions of the American Basketball Association bylaws... which prohibit any member club from signing players whose college eligibility has not expired."

The league Wednesday chose Wendell Cherry of the Kentucky Colonels as its new president and gave final approval to Ned Doyle as the new owner of the Miami Floridians.

General managers of the ABA will meet in Salt Lake City in mid-July to study a 1970-71 schedule. Each team again will play 84 regular season games, but Dolph said efforts will be made to shorten the time period.

Tagged Out at Third

Florida State's John Grubb (20) is tagged out at third by David Chalk (3) of Texas in the fourth inning of the College World Series game, Wednesday. Florida thumped the Longhorns out of the series, 11-2. Florida will now meet USC for the college crown. (UPI)

Trevino, Player Eye U.S. Open

CHASKA, Minn. (AP) — Lee Trevino, no longer discouraged by the first ball he ever hit at Hazeltine National, classed himself and Gary Player as the men to beat in the 70th U.S. Open golf championship.

Trevino, the wise-cracking Mexican-American from El Paso, Tex., and Player, the little South African, played more practice rounds leading up to today's first round than any others in the field of 136 professionals and 14 amateurs.

While most other members of the tour stopped in Chicago for the Western Open, Player and Trevino were learning about the par 72, 7,151-yard Hazeltine. Player arrived nine days ago. Trevino eight.

"This is going to be my week," said Trevino. "I'm really set on winning and if I can get by Player, I should do it. I've been here more than a week and I know this course."

But three years ago, Trevino did not know the sprawling Hazeltine layout southwest of Minneapolis, and he fondly recalled his first round on the course in 1967 before he was a qualified member of the tour.

"The first time I ever qualified on the tour was on this course," Trevino said. "I slammed my first shot into the hedges and lost my ball. I finished that day with a 76 but made the tournament. I don't remember my score in the tournament. I did win $800."

Trevino's rise to golfing stardom came less than a year later when he won the 1968 U.S. Open. He failed to make the cut in the 1969 Open at Houston because of a knee injury, and he came to Hazeltine as the tour's leading money winner in 1970 and a week early with the idea of regaining his title.

The caretaker Texan, although serious with his intentions, remained jovial in his week of preparation.

Trevino promised, however, that he would avoid the method he took earlier this week when one of his admirers gave him a large jar of Mexican jalapenos — hellish little peppers.

Orioles Continue Losing Skein, 5-1

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

There are few pigeons left in Gene Brabender's coop, but he still has some rare birds in hand... the Baltimore Orioles. Brabender, a former Baltimore pitching prospect who has migrated to Milwaukee, shackled his ex-teammates for 6 1-3 innings Wednesday night as the lowly Brewers ambushed the sagging Orioles 5-1.

It was only the second victory for Brabender since April 26... and both have been at Baltimore's expense.

Despite their fourth loss in five games, the Orioles retained a two-game lead in the American League East as the Chicago White Sox cooled off the second place New York Yankees 6-3.

Detroit beat Oakland 9-7. Boston took Kansas City 3-1 and Washington topped Minnesota 3-1 in other AL games.

Mike Hegan's three-run homer and a solo shot by Phil Roof helped Brabender, 3-8 overall, bring his two-year record against Baltimore to 4-2. The big right-hander, who got relief help from Bob Humphreys in the seventh, was 2-2 against the Orioles while pitching for Seattle last year.

He left the game with a 2-1 lead, built on Roof's homer off Dave McNally in the fifth and a sixth inning sacrifice fly by Dave May, who was making his first start for the Brewers after being dealt to them by the Orioles Tuesday.

Humphreys checked Baltimore the rest of the way and Hegan broke the game open with his seventh inning blast.

Pitcher Jerry Janeski drove in three runs with a single and squeeze bunt as the White Sox ended the Yankees' winning streak at six games. Catcher Duane Josephson drilled three singles and a double and scored three Chicago runs.

Detroit's Ken Szotkiewicz, a .135 hitter going into the game, poked a decisive three-run homer, enabling the Tigers to overcome six errors and outscore the A's. All but one of the Oakland runs were unearned, the result of four errors by Tiger pitchers and two more by third baseman Ike Brown.

Ken Brett, making his first start of the season, hurled a three-hitter and struck out eight in Boston's victory over the skidding Royals. The Red Sox broke a 1-1 tie with two runs in the sixth after Dave Morehead walked the bases full.

Injured Receiver

The Chicago Cubs may have lost another catcher to injury in their 6-1 win over the Giants, Wednesday, when catcher Jack Hiatt received a painful groin injury from a foul tip off the bat of Bobby Bonds in the third inning of play. Hiatt finished the inning, but had to leave later. Manager Leo Durocher and trainer Al Scheuneman lean over Hiatt with pitcher Ken Holzman (30) looking on. (UPI)

POLLY'S POINTERS

Uses Ice Cube Tray To Hold Her Earrings

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—As pierced ears have been the "in" thing for the past several years, my earrings filled three "trees" on my dressing table. They were cluttered-looking and getting dusty, so I bought a miniature ice cube tray. This fits nicely in a drawer and has cubicles for 90 pairs of earrings. An old pair of tweezers is kept nearby for getting them out of their neat compartments. Now my earrings are clean, easy to see and out of the way. —SHARON

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Panty hose in the size that fits me in the feet, legs and thighs are about 1 1/2 to two inches too tight through the waist. I have tried snipping the elastic at intervals but this does not work. I would really appreciate knowing what I could do to make them more comfortable. —I. P.

DEAR POLLY—I always have a cup of warm milk before going to bed and the milk always sticks to the little pan in which I heat it. A quick scrub with a piece of that old reliable nylon net cleans it up in a jiffy. This net also works well for cleaning a pan in which cream sauce is cooked. —MRS. D. K.

DEAR POLLY—I would like to tell Donna, whose husband's swivel chair has "sticky" arms, that the only way I could get rid of this condition was to put masking tape around the upholstered edges for protection as I used paint remover and then re-finished the arms. Be very careful not to spill any of the remover on the upholstery fabric. I took my chair outdoors to protect the floor and carpet. I used paste wax on the arms after they were refinished and now they never get sticky. —MRS. J. B. P.

DEAR DONNA—There is a chance that such stickiness could be due to a build-up of wax or furniture polish. I would certainly remove either of these and then see what a coat of brown paste wax or even scratch remover polish (if you use polish) would do before starting in on a complete refinishing job. Worth a try, even though refinishing is necessary in the end. —POLLY

Arrests Tricky in Drug Cases

Local law enforcement officials know who is selling and using drugs in Sedalia and the surrounding area, but find themselves in the frustrating position of being almost unable to make an arrest.

That was the consensus of interviews with Chief of Police William Miller and Sheriff Emmett Fairfax over the last two weeks.

"In the last 12-month period," Miller said, "there have been five arrests connected with drugs."

Of the five persons arrested, one entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to a three-year prison term. The other four cases are still pending.

Building a solid drug case, according to Fairfax, can often take months. "It's almost necessary to infiltrate the group that's selling the drugs and avoid entrapment at the same time," he said.

Both men said that the sale of drugs here was not as widespread as is commonly believed.

Fairfax said there were roughly two groups involved in drug traffic in Sedalia. The police department and sheriff's department have a list of names on hand and keep the people involved under constant surveillance.

In order to make arrests, however, officials almost have to witness a drug transaction, according to Miller and Fairfax.

"Infiltration of the groups takes a long time," Fairfax said.

According to the two department heads, the "entrapment" issue is a constant danger. If an investigator is hired specifically to be an instrument in the commission of a crime in order to obtain an arrest, the entrapment factor comes into play and evidence obtained in this manner can be thrown out of court.

An informant who volunteers his information can forward valid testimony, as can a law enforcement official who is approached, without prior action on his own part, to buy or sell drugs, Miller and Fairfax said.

Fairfax said it was a felony in Missouri to sell, possess or distribute narcotics or dangerous drugs.

"Some law enforcement agencies hire investigators who do nothing but infiltrate groups selling drugs," Miller said. He also said that neither the city nor county agency was large enough to do this.

"There isn't an individual involved locally who doesn't know our officers," Miller said.

Fairfax emphasized that information obtained by both departments indicate that the general public is rarely if ever approached by a known drug pusher.

"We also know that so far hard stuff like heroine isn't being pushed or used here," Miller said.

In several instances where a drug sale supposedly took place, officials later learned that what was supposed to be a dangerous narcotic turned out to be relatively harmless.

Fraudulent drug sales apparently aren't uncommon, according to Miller, who said pushers quite often rely on a youth's gullibility when making a sale.

"People are understandably upset about the apparent lack of action," Fairfax said, "but we're working constantly on this thing. It might take time, but when we make a move we'll do it when we have evidence that will justify an arrest."

Accusations that local officials have a "do-nothing" attitude toward the drug traffic situation are false, Fairfax and Miller said.

The two men emphasized the constant need for solid evidence to support the state or city case when it reaches court.

Adolescence, Mid-Age Are Difficult Periods

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The two most troubled periods in most people's lives are adolescence and middle age. They are startlingly alike in that during their reign a person's thoughts and actions are deeply influenced by an inner hysteria and insecurity of which outsiders may be almost totally unaware. The cure for both adolescence and middle age is the same: you simply have to outgrow them—and go on to a calmer and better time.

An old-timer is a guy who can remember when a girl going out on a date took along only a dollar bill for her mad money.

You rarely learn anything very interesting from talking to people at a cocktail party who wear sunglasses to cover up the way they still look from the cocktail party they went to the night before.

No one looks so hopeful as the old maid the day the cruise ship sails—or so forlorn the day it returns.

One of the things men wonder about all their lives is why girls tend to go to the powder room in pairs and what they talk about when they get there. Well, what they generally do is exchange opinions about their escorts, and the longer they linger in the powder room the less flattering those opinions are.

Nothing arouses the hidden paranoia in every office worker more than putting a dime in the office vending machine and getting back neither the soft drink nor the coin. It brings all the woes of his lifetime to a peak.

One of the first lessons of maturity is to have a wholesome distrust of anybody who is always telling you where to buy things wholesale. He's usually no bargain himself.

An optimist is a guy who marries a hatcheck girl in the belief that he can win a lovely smile from her every day thereafter by giving her a two-bit tip.

People are getting to have less and less faith in science, which at one time was supposed to create an endlessly better world. It has, instead, spawned so many Frankenstein terrors that all we can hope for is that it will refrain from cross-breeding termites with woodpeckers.

News men are often unfairly blamed because the front page contains mostly bad news. But even if a newspaper printed a front page with nothing but good news on it, folks are so contrary that they'd still use it to line the bottom of a bird cage tomorrow.

Reaction To Speech Is Critical

NEW YORK (AP) — Top labor leaders criticized President Nixon's economic proposals while the business community reacted with mixed views.

Labor spokesmen said Wednesday the President's plan for calling public attention to significant wage or price increases would hurt labor without reducing inflation.

Some business executives and economists expressed disappointment that the President did not go far enough in the area of wage and price controls.

Others lauded the President's stand, saying they found his speech reassuring.

"President Nixon's latest program against inflation is, like his previous policies and tactics in the economic area, weighted against the American worker," said Paul Jennings, president of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers.

"It includes nothing ... to bring down interest rates, nothing to correct the imbalance between high prices and inadequate wages, and nothing to put a brake on excess profits," he said.

Paul Samuelson, economist at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, characterized the speech as "anticlimactic," and called the idea of spotlighting wage and price increases "a very weak thing."

While expressing agreement with Nixon's optimism for the long term, GAF Corp. Chairman Jesse Werner said he regretted that the President did not "give more consideration to steps more closely approaching wage and price controls."

University of Chicago economist Milton Friedman called Nixon's talk a "further demonstration that the President has a steady, long-range policy and the courage to pursue it despite a lot of political pressure for wage and price controls."

RCA Chairman Robert W. Sarnoff said, "I am pleased by the President's decision not to seek mandatory wage and price controls."

"We regard the President's speech ... as significant and constructive," said Norman Strunk, executive vice president of the United States Savings and Loan League.

Dr. William C. Freund, vice president of the New York Stock Exchange, applauded Nixon's "longer-run approach to inflationary pressures in the economy as opposed to short-run, stop-gap measures."

Lynn A. Townsend, chairman of Chrysler Corp., said he believed "President Nixon is following the appropriate economic policies." He added, however, that as yet he saw "no clear evidence of a business turnaround in the second half of the year or an easing of inflation. We agree with the President that something more should be done at this time."

One of the first lessons of maturity is to have a wholesome distrust of anybody who is always telling you where to buy things wholesale. He's usually no bargain himself.

Boys State Positions For Three Youths

WARRENSBURG — Three area boys were elected to posts at the Missouri Boys State session in Warrensburg this week.

Steve Gerlecz, son of Mrs. Frank M. Gerlecz, 2511 West 11th, was elected Alcorn City councilman; Edwin Healey, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Healey, Route 4, and David McCandless, son of Robert McCandless, Smithton, were both chosen as Smith City councilman.

The Kiwanis Club is sponsoring Steve Gerlecz; the Rotary Club sponsors Edwin Healey and the Student Council of Smithton is sponsoring David McCandless.

Boys State is an exercise in democracy in that all "citizens" may vote and are eligible to hold office. Its purpose is to educate youth in the duties, privileges, responsibilities and rights of American citizenship through a system of "learning by doing."

Cambodian Withdrawal Is Lagging

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although President Nixon has said "the great majority" of U.S. forces would be out of Cambodia by now, authoritative sources say half the number of American troops sent into that nation is still there.

The President also has promised to have all American troops out by June 30. He repeated the pledge Wednesday in his televised report to the nation on economic conditions.

As of Wednesday, however, the sources said about 10,000 American troops remain in Cambodia "still searching, still sweeping and still removing enemy supplies" from the jungle sanctuaries along the South Vietnamese border.

In his May 8 news conference, Nixon said: "The great majority of all American units will be out by the second week of June."

The Defense Department has said the U.S. troop level in Cambodia reached 20,000 men soon after the incursion started April 29.

The White House denied this week the President's words about the mid-June target constituted a pledge. A spokesman contended the President had merely voiced an expectation based on field reports from Saigon.

Since the Cambodian operation began with the announced purpose of cleaning out enemy sanctuaries, the White House and Pentagon have used different figures on the number of troops involved.

In his June 3 report to the nation on the progress of the Cambodian operation, Nixon said 31,000 American troops took part and 17,000 had been pulled back across the border into South Vietnam.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedman sought to clear up this apparent discrepancy by explaining the following day that the 31,000 figure used by the President represented the total number of U.S. troops who had been in Cambodia since the start of the Cambodian incursion.

At no single time had more than 20,000 troops been involved across the border," Friedman explained.

Reform Block Is Defeated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has defeated efforts to block reform of the Post Office Department and approved a measure banning compulsory union membership for mailmen.

An amendment by Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., to kill the reform plan, grant workers an 8 per cent pay raise and fire striking postal workers was defeated Wednesday 105-57.

The house then amended the bill to create an independent, self-supporting U.S. Postal Service, raise pay 8 per cent, and permit each worker to decide whether to join a union.

Opponents of the ban against compulsory union membership said it would throw the balance of power in pay negotiations to management and supercede state union laws.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., argued postal unions should be permitted to enlist maximum support for negotiations with management that will be under pressure to keep wages low.

Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., said the House-approved ban "for the first time will reach the long arm of the federal government" into the 39 states that permit compulsory unionism and exempt mailmen from state laws.

The vote on the amendment by Rep. David N. Henderson, D-N.C., was 179 to 95.

The Henderson amendment inserts into the bill the language of executive orders by President Nixon and former President John F. Kennedy that mailmen have the right to join or refrain from joining unions.

The 11 postal unions count about 600,000 of the country's 740,000 mail workers as members.

Postal reform opponents led by Wright said the bill would sacrifice Congress' control of the mails to a corporation that would soon be running in the red and asking Congress for subsidies to bail it out.

Udall said Wright's proposal to grant a $538 million annual pay boost without corresponding revenue increases was typical of Congress' mail management and why the system should be turned over to a business-like, independent agency.

Incriminating Odor

HARTFORD, Wis. (AP) — Police officer Hugh Carpenter of the Juvenile Division gives talks on drugs to school children as part of his job.

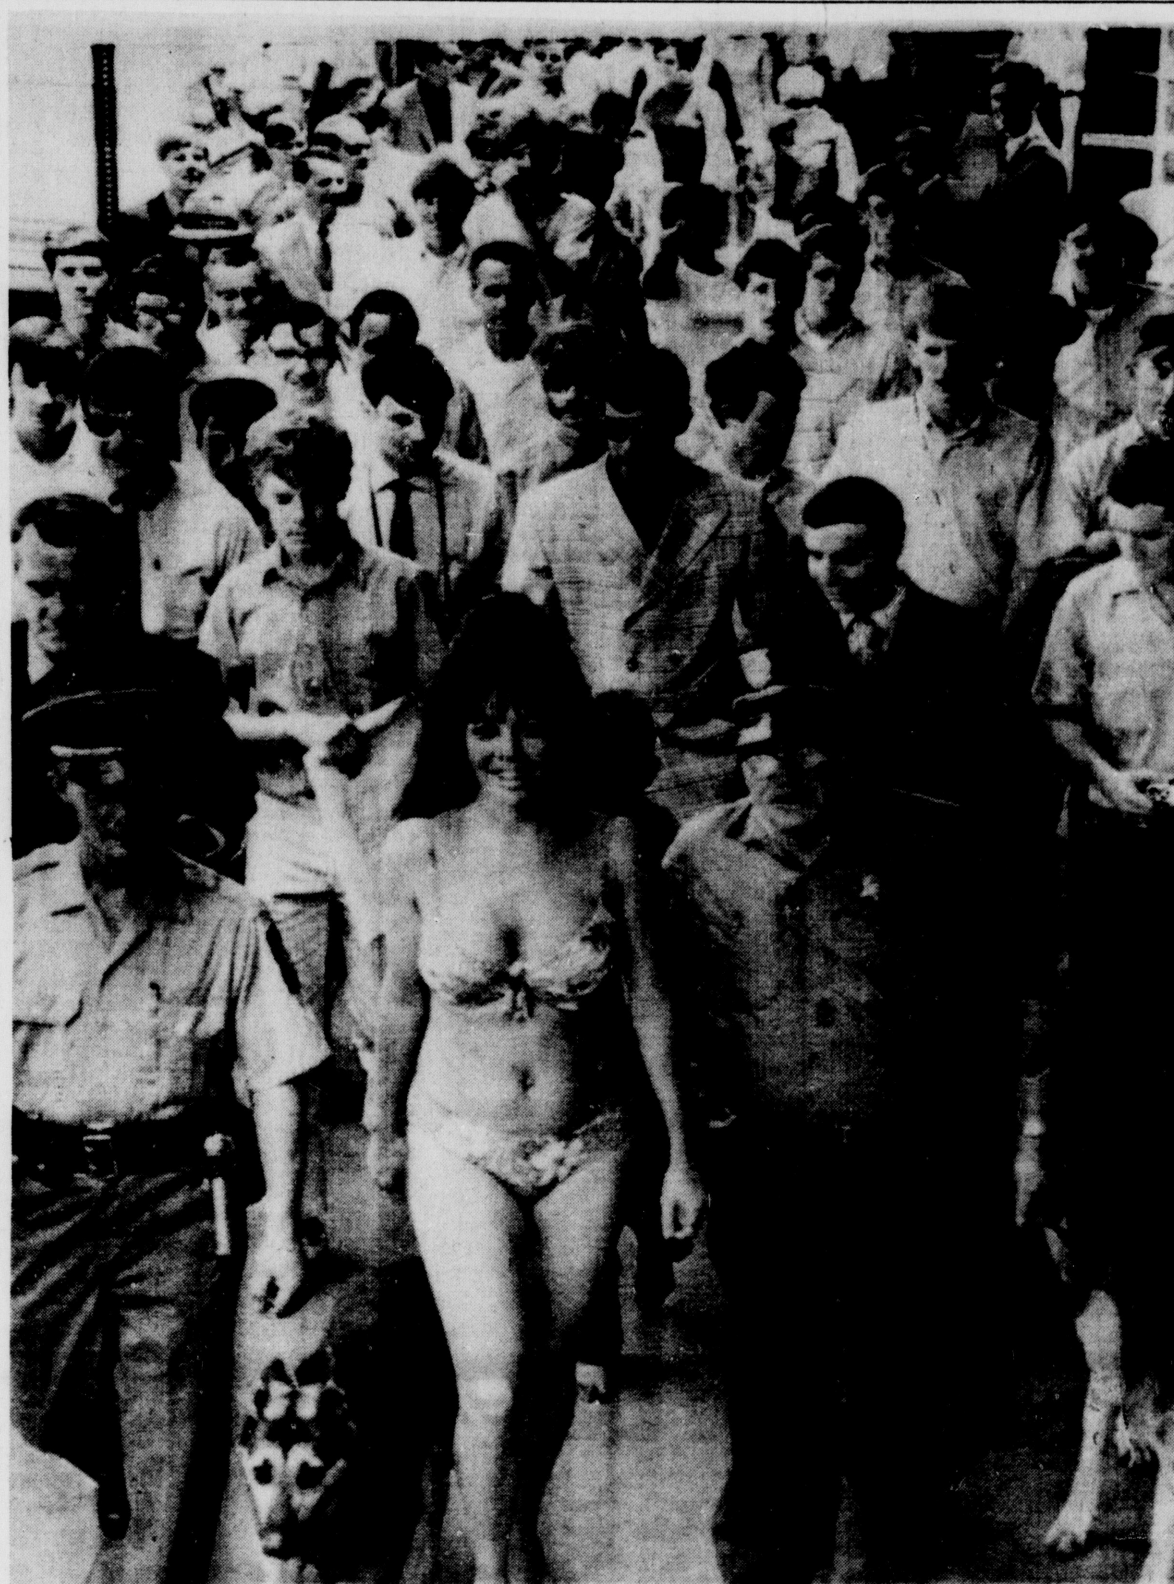

In a talk last month to eighth graders at St. Kallian's School, he burned wafers that give off a smell similar to marijuana.

On a class outing Monday at Devil's Lake State Park some of the St. Kallian's pupils sniffed what they said smelled like those wafers. They talked to their counselor and he called the park ranger.

Four young people were found nearby, arrested and charged with possession and use of marijuana.

To Aid Quake Area

LIMA (AP) — The U.S. Navy helicopter carrier Guam sailed Tuesday from the port of Chimbote to Paramonga, 114 miles north of Lima, for more quake relief operations.

Morganna, who is billed as an "exotic dancer" and is often seen at major league ball parks kissing ball players at home plate, does her thing in Birmingham which is taking a summer stroll through downtown recently, properly dressed for the occasion. She was accompanied by an approving crowd of girl watchers, two private guards and two dogs. (UPI)

Cambodian Withdrawal Is Lagging

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although President Nixon has said "the great majority" of U.S. forces would be out of Cambodia by now, authoritative sources say half the number of American troops sent into that nation is still there.

The President also has promised to have all American troops out by June 30. He repeated the pledge Wednesday in his televised report to the nation on economic conditions.

As of Wednesday, however, the sources said about 10,000 American troops remain in Cambodia "still searching, still sweeping and still removing enemy supplies" from the jungle sanctuaries along the South Vietnamese border.

In his May 8 news conference, Nixon said: "The great majority of all American units will be out by the second week of June."

The Defense Department has said the U.S. troop level in Cambodia reached 20,000 men soon after the incursion started April 29.

The White House denied this week the President's words about the mid-June target constituted a pledge. A spokesman contended the President had merely voiced an expectation based on field reports from Saigon.

Since the Cambodian operation began with the announced purpose of cleaning out enemy sanctuaries, the White House and Pentagon have used different figures on the number of troops involved.

In his June 3 report to the nation on the progress of the Cambodian operation, Nixon said 31,000 American troops took part and 17,000 had been pulled back across the border into South Vietnam.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedman sought to clear up this apparent discrepancy by explaining the following day that the 31,000 figure used by the President represented the total number of U.S. troops who had been in Cambodia since the start of the Cambodian incursion.

At no single time had more than 20,000 troops been involved across the border," Friedman explained.

Area Counties Are Included In Planning

(Democrat-Capital Service)

JEFFERSON CITY — Cooper and Moniteau counties were among eight in Central Missouri named recently to receive $70,200 from the Farmers Home Administration for water and waste disposal planning in rural areas.

Sens. Stuart Symington and Thomas F. Eagleton and Reps. William Hungeate and Richard Ichor announced the awarding of funds to the Mid-Missouri Planning Commission, which includes Audrain, Boone, Callaway, Cole, Cooper, Howard, Moniteau and Osage counties.

The money will be used for planning of the services and will enable the commission to outline development of central water and sewer systems and disposal facilities in towns of less than 5,500 population located in the eight counties.

Gail E. Godsey, director of Mid-Missouri Planning Commission, said the initial phases of the planning were already underway.

Among rural communities to benefit from the program will be Pilot Grove, Blackwater, Bunceton, Otterville, Woodridge and Prairie Home in Cooper County. In Moniteau County, California, Clarksburg, Tipton, Lupus and Jamestown are slated for plans.

Godsey pointed out that all unincorporated towns under 5,500 population would also receive plans.

Temporary Delay Over Integration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has backed away—at least temporarily—from a crucial test of the Nixon administration's determination to push for near total school desegregation in the South by this fall.

Faced with more than a score of segregated Mississippi districts that have so far resisted administration blandishments to desegregate voluntarily, the department has held off taking state officials to court to force an end to their dual school systems.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard, chief of the department's civil rights division, acknowledged Wednesday he is giving the holdout Mississippi districts more time to come around before filing a threatened statewide desegregation suit.

"Things are looking good," Leonard said of efforts by a special Nixon administration negotiation team that spent Monday and Tuesday in Jackson, Miss., talking to school district officials.

The confidence in Mississippi officials marks an apparent change of heart by Leonard, who last week seemed determined to press ahead with the second statewide suit ever filed by the government if 15 or more Mississippi districts still resisted by the end of the negotiating session.

"The arbitrary figure is 15," Leonard said in an interview last week. "If it is less, we can handle them on an individual basis; if it is more, we will probably have to bring a statewide suit."

Sources in the Justice Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, both present at the closed door negotiations in Jackson, said the number of holdout districts ended up at 23.

Leonard had said prior to the negotiations his decision on filing the statewide suit would be made on Tuesday.

The decision to file such a suit, however, must be cleared by Leonard's boss, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell. Mitchell, President Nixon's 1968 campaign manager, is said by sources in the Justice Department to be determined to avoid such a massive show of force in the South.

Mitchell feels the sources said, the administration's best course is to push for voluntary desegregation through a Cabinet panel headed by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

The attorney general told reporters recently the Cabinet committee had experienced "measurable success" in talking recalcitrant districts into voluntary action.

The first statewide desegregation suit was filed more than a year ago against Georgia. Since then all but a few school districts in that state have submitted acceptable plans for desegregating this fall.

Appropriations Methods Draw Fire of Reformist

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-poverty chief Donald Rumsfeld, a long-time advocate of congressional reform, says House and Senate procedure for appropriating funds is "inexcusable" and a serious waste of time and work.

Rumsfeld, who spent six years as a congressman from Illinois before taking over the Office of Economic Opportunity, said Congress should stop making appropriations on a fiscal period basis and switch to a calendar year that conforms with the legislative work year.

"Because of the really inexcusable way that the Congress operates with respect to federal appropriations, this agency and probably many agencies of government have been subjected to something in the neighborhood of three times the amount of administrative work that would normally have been required," Rumsfeld said.

"This detracts from our ability to intelligently assist grantees and contractors in the performance of their activities. And in fact it harms the poor."

Rumsfeld made his criticism in an interview during which he chronicled his agency's $1.9 billion appropriation bills' tour through the Congress. The measure passed in March.

"During this fiscal year which ends June 30 we've had to cope with an incredibly difficult situation," he said. "Congress did not finally pass our appropriation bill until the fiscal year was about eight months gone."

"And then they cut it by $100 million, and they also earmarked it in a way that in the last four months of the year it was required of us that we skew the entire 12-month earmarking into a four-month period."

The 37-year-old Rumsfeld is not a Johnny-come-lately in calling for congressional reform.

In an effort to point up what he described as the archaic methods of the House, Rumsfeld led a minibattle with leaders nearly two years ago during debate on suspending the equal radio-TV time amendment for presidential candidates.

Employing quorum calls and other legislative maneuvers, Rumsfeld and other reform-minded members kept the House in session all night—a total of 32 hours and 17 minutes.

Bats are clumsy on the ground because their wings get in their way and their knees bend backward.

Prejudices Are Pondered By City Group

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An aldermanic committee was pondering charges today that the city director of parks, recreation and forestry is "prejudiced against blacks. Italians, educators, most people who are tall in stature, people who seek reasons for his decisions and supervisors who are creative and ambitious."

The allegations concerning Director Louis W. Buckowitz were made by Robert Solari, a former recreation commissioner who is now a recreation supervisor, at a hearing of the Committee on Parks, Recreation and Forestry.

Other complaints came from Irving C. Clay, recreation commissioner and brother of Rep. William Clay, D-Mo.

Solari is white and Clay is a Negro.

Solari submitted to the committee a 35-page diary he said contained listings of acts of the director which he claims have lowered morale to the lowest point he has seen in his 21 years with the department.

'66 OPEN ROAD MOTOR HOME. 10,

Prime Minister Wilson Is on Threshold of British History

LONDON (AP) — James Harold Wilson, the youngest British prime minister of the 20th century, apparently stands on the threshold of a political achievement that eluded the greatest of his predecessors—election to an unprecedented third straight term.

All public opinion polls indicate Wilson's Labor government will coast back into office in Thursday's general election of a new House of Commons. The Marplan poll, in the Times of London today, gave Labor an 8.7 per cent margin over the Conservatives and predicted a majority of up to 150 seats in the new House of Commons. But the Harris poll in the Daily Express cut Labor's lead to 2 per cent, from 7 per cent a week ago.

Conservative Stanley Baldwin served five times and Churchill, another Tory, three times. But each lost elections in between terms.

For Wilson, the expected triumph is all the more remarkable because of the depths to which his prestige sank after he devalued the pound in November, 1967, and applied unpopular wage freezes, credit squeezes and tax boosts.

Opinion polls then showed Labor at the lowest ebb of any party in office since the polls began, with the Conservatives led by Edward Heath 20 per cent ahead. But it now appears that at this time of their greatest popular appeal, the Tories made a tactical error for which they will pay heavily Thursday.

They concentrated their fire on one issue, Britain's trade deficit. Repeatedly the Tories stressed that to get the economy right, the balance of payments would have to be improved.

A year later Labor did just that. The austerity measures began to pay off.

In 1969 Britain recorded its first balance of payments surplus in seven years, a profit of nearly $929 million.

As the economy recovered, Wilson took off some restraints and let wages rise faster than prices, a policy bound to be popular with the wage earners. The opinion polls show that Conservative charges of Labor mismanaging the economy and of inflationary dangers ahead have failed to sway the electorate.

Wilson has several advantages in his bid for a third straight term, including youth. He was only 48 when he took office, and he frequently reminds associates that he will be only 58 at the end of a full third term, still younger than Harold Macmillan's 60 when he became prime minister.
